◆ "Thirsty, T.J.?" Starting as linebaker, T.J. was a very valuable player for East High.

▲ Jennifer Rhodes is excited that it is the end of the day. Though school can be fun, everyone is always relieved when the 3:00 bell rings.

CAUGHT IN THE

- ▲ Nikki and Alana get caught off guard by the camera. These two spent a lot of time together.
- ◆ Practicing to be a housewife, Sabrina McCraw mops the floor. Thanks to ISS, the cafeteria stayed clean at all times.
- ♥ On the sidelines, the soccer team jokes around. They were always in a good mood before a game.

circle

The student body and faculty at East Henderson High have been caught in a "circle of change" over the past few years. Having freshmen come to East for the first time and dealing with all the changes of the class schedule, there was not a chance for boredom. Everyone seemed to adjust very well to the new four by four day. Our student body has proved that no matter what, they can still come out on top and be the best that they can be.

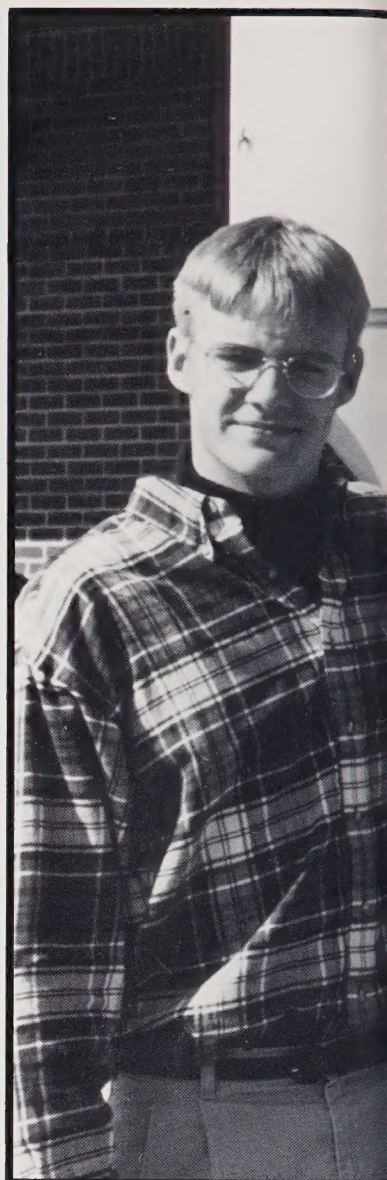

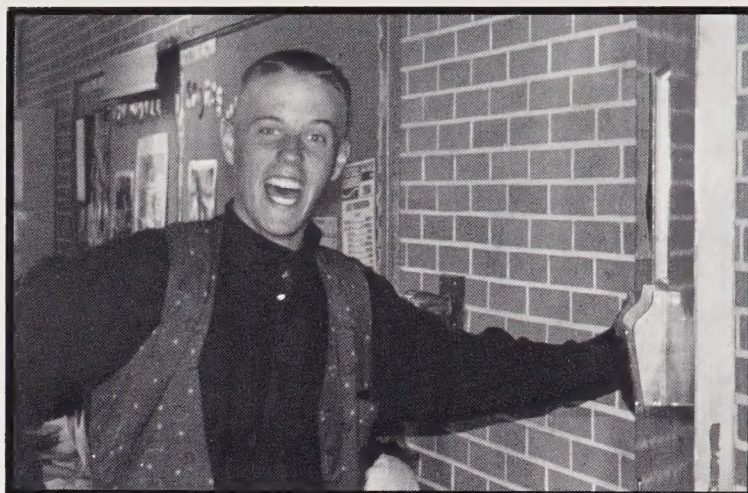

Students have handled the changes at East with great ease, and through the upcoming years, they will continue to make this school and the world a better place.

- "Say cheese!" Christina impatiently waits for the flash of the camera.

Matt McLendon shows off his receiving skills in P.E. class. The first day's activities were not very stressful.

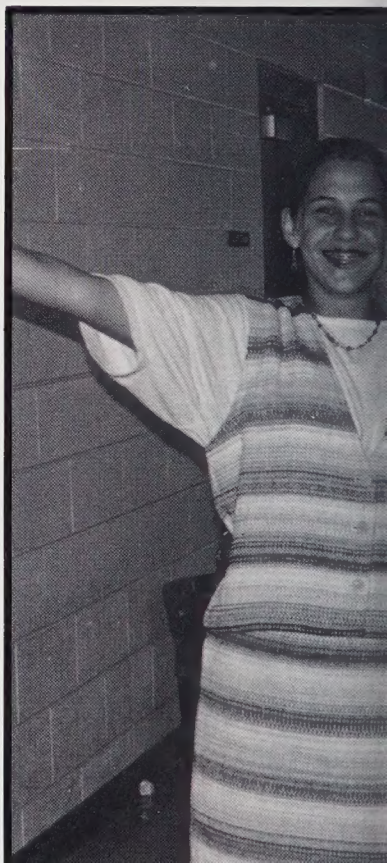

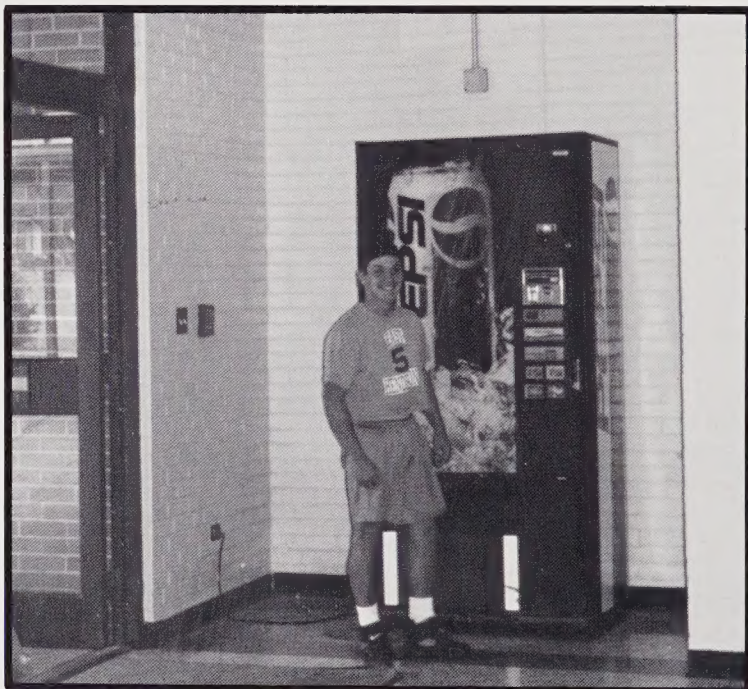

BY FRIENDS

Being crazy as usual, Gavin screams to the camera. Whenever spirit is involved, Gavin is right in the middle of the act.

Students make up the majority at East High. Shop class is becoming more and more popular as the years go by.

Stacey Murray is a typical student at this school. He takes part in an everyday after-school activity, buying a drink.

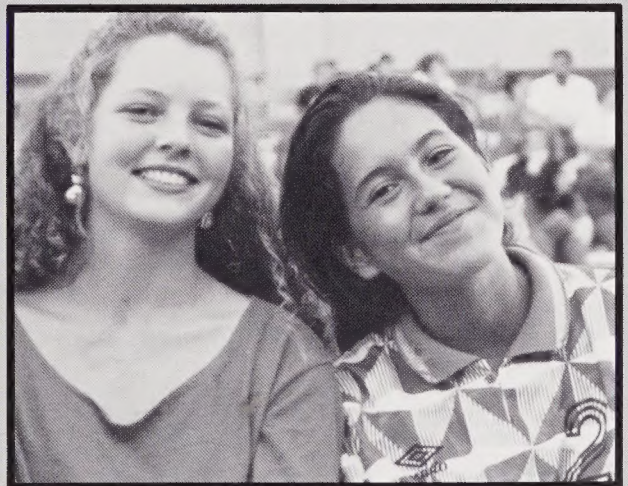

David, Sasha, and Danny share a snack and some good times. East High students are always eager to befriend new people.

STUDENT LIFE

Everyday life at East Henderson High School is not boring, because of the students. Without them there would be no East High. Every individual at this school shows a lot of spirit and pride. The student body consists of a vast variety of personalities and backgrounds. However, everyone seems to get along well and work together to make our school wonderful.

Veronica Hoots and Kelly McGraw smile for the camera. Whenever one sees one of these girls, the other is always seen too.

Soccer can be a very difficult sport. Krystyn Cunningham and Faith Bedow take a break from the game. They are only two females on the soccer team.

What A Wonderful Night

Prom Night '94

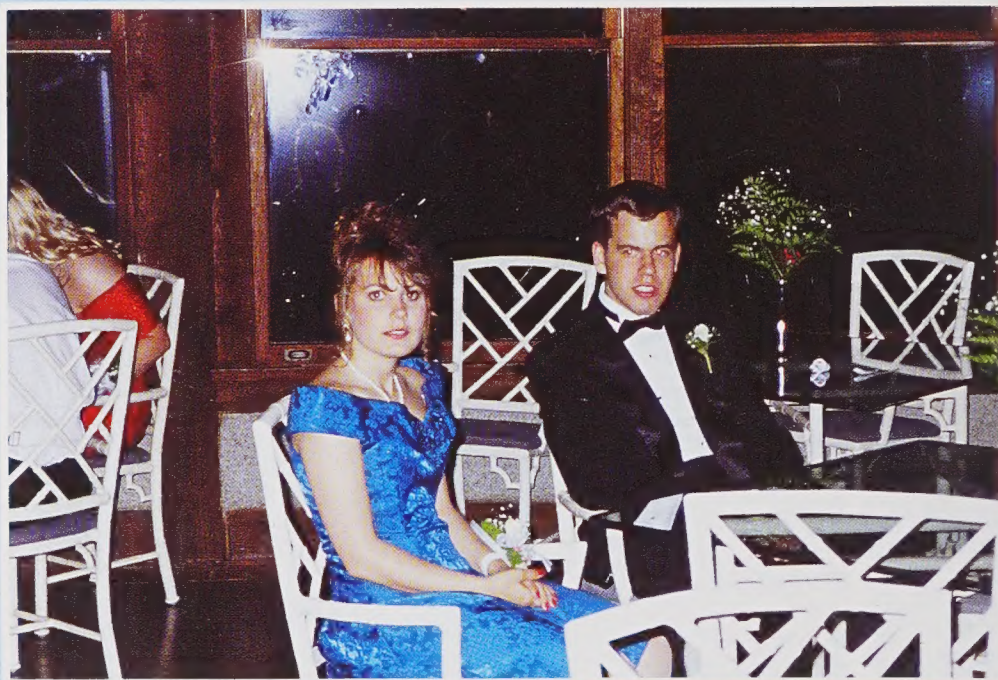

“I didn't want the night to end, but when it did I couldn't wait until next year's prom,” said Holly Benson.

In today's fast paced world finding time to have fun is hard. The prom is one night set aside for the Juniors and Seniors to relax and have a good time.

For most, the night really begins early in the day because getting ready for the prom takes hours of preparation. Hair, make-up, and nail appointments were a must for almost everyone. After family pictures were taken, couples and even those who chose to go by themselves, enjoyed a wonderful dinner at an elegant restaurant, but some found that a Big Mac at Mickey D's was good enough for the evening. When students finally arrived at Deer

Park in Biltmore, they enjoyed delicious refreshments, the company of all their classmates, and the variety of music the DJ kept going all night long. Country to alternative music was played, which pleased the wide variety of students in the Junior and Senior classes. When the prom ended at 12 o'clock, the partying began. Some students didn't even arrive home until early Saturday morning.

"It was not what I expected. The atmosphere was more festive and everybody was having a good time," said Raymond Cuevas. The 1994 prom definitely lived up to its theme "Wonderful Tonight".

Valerie Strickland and Bryan Merrel take a few minutes from the dance floor to relax and have a drink. Many people found that they needed a rest after dancing.

Teachers, as well as students, had a great time at the prom. Mrs. Ogletree and Mrs. Roper remember when they were in our shoes.

As the music played, they danced the night away! Kelly Pace and Heidi Cagle enjoy their night of fun at Deer Park.

Michael Broadway takes a moment to pose for a picture. Michael's unique hair style sets off his whole outfit.

Mardi Gras

Spirit Week '94

Despite the ongoing rain, the cheerleaders always had time for a smile. Stacey Hice, Stephanie Glenn, Christine Wright, and Valerie Strickland join together to cheer for their Eagle team at Homecoming.

Spirit Week began with a huge circle of events this year at East High. Monday started off with confusion as everyone wore clothes "Inside Out and Backwards." Fuzzy slippers and nighties were the style on Tuesday, Wake-Up Day. Wednesday was Dress Up Day, but no one could compare with the show of beautiful dresses and smiles of our Homecoming Court at the assembly. The girls and their escorts paraded down Bourbon Street during Mardi Gras, which was the theme for Homecoming. Thursday, students took a trip back in time for Woodstock Day. Everyone sported their favorite tie-dyes, cut-offs, and sandals. That night students rallied their support for the Eagles at the annual Bonfire. Traditional Green & White Day was held on Friday and many students even painted their faces and dyed their hair to show spirit. The Powder Puff game took place Friday afternoon. Friday night was the big game. Despite the downpour, students and parents showed up in great numbers to root for the Eagles. The crowning of our new Homecoming Queen, Lori Camp, took place. The Eagles went on to obtain a crushing defeat against Erwin, winning 41 to 24. This year's display of school spirit and pride outweighed any other here at East High.

Mrs. Rush and Mrs. Leeds don't just teach foreign languages. They teach peace, love, happiness, and school spirit as they dress up for Woodstock Day.

Rickey Reynolds, Powder Puff Queen contestant for S.A.D.D., gets all dolled up for the presentation of the court. Doesn't he look lovely?

Neither rain nor sickness could keep East Henderson fans from Homecoming. East High Eagles downed the Warriors to win the game.

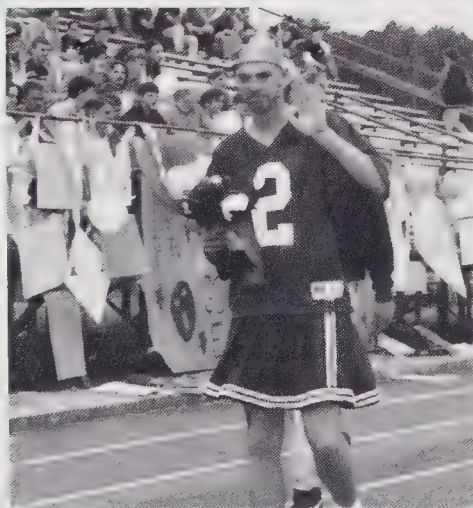

The theme for this year's Homecoming was Mardi Gras. The cheerleaders displayed their banner in support for the Eagles. The advice, "Whip the Warriors", was taken to heart as the football team made whimps out of the Warriors.

Michael Broadway steps back to admire the strength of his fellow "cheerleaders."

Proudly displaying his crown, Jay Sandos gives a smile and a wave as the new Powder Puff Queen.

Many sophomores love to show their school spirit. Here, Alison Ford and friends cheer for their Eagles at a Pep Rally.

Let The Good Times Roll

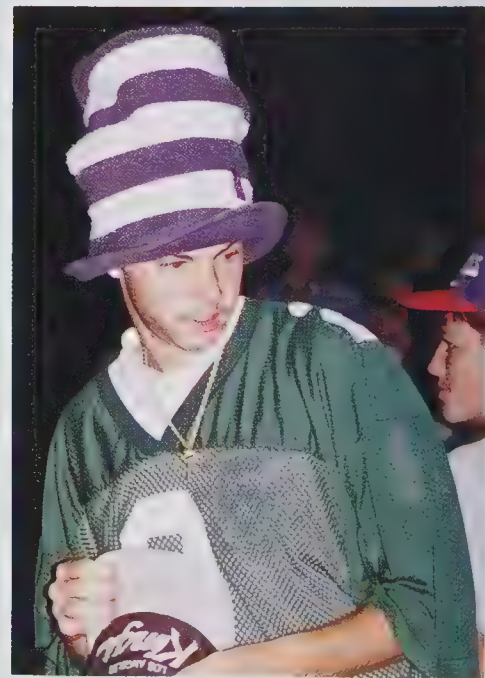

Each East High student looks forward to the weekends because students can attend the ball game, get together, or have a special date. Weekends offer the opportunity to spend leisure time with family and friends. This is a time also to enjoy the four beautiful seasons our area so proudly boasts. Whether it be horse back riding, water or snow skiing, a scenic ride through the colorful mountains during fall, or just relaxing at home, weekends are enjoyed by everyone. The weekend also allows for the catching up on homework and the sleep one may miss during the week.

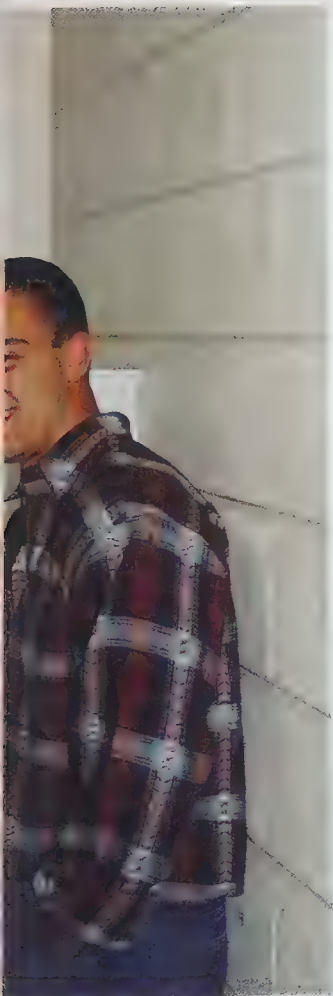

"Work can be very tough, but it teaches you responsibility, and helps you appreciate the things that you have," says Junior Elizabeth Whaley on working on weekends. Working after school and on weekends leaves little for just fun. Along with school work and added projects, working students carry a heavy load. Earning money for payments, future education, or to help with his or her expenses, is accepting responsibility which will aid in future developments.

Students who do volunteer work at our local hospitals should also be commented as there is no compensation for their hours. Their summer vacation is given up so they may volunteer help to the elderly or ill, as well as office assistants.

We must not forget the students who help with the home work: raking leaves, mowing grass, cleaning house, and washing cars. Hats off also, to the students who help their parents with farming.

"How much did you say this was," asks Gina Hipp. Many students enjoyed their part time jobs after school.

Even though Candi Maybin works very hard at her job at Ingles, she still has time to smile at her customers. Being able to interact with the public is one of the skills needed to know as one enters the work force.

Darby Medlin takes time out at halftime to catch up on the latest gossip. Students enjoy getting together after a long day's work.

Kori Leavey takes a break from a long hard day on the job. The majority of students had jobs after school.

Graduation

Last year the graduates had a new treat: The presentation of the colors by the AFJROTC program.

Graduation at East High is always a special occasion, and last year was no exception. With tears of joy and tears of sorrow in their eyes, the seniors faced the moment which they had anticipated so long. Everyone listened eagerly as Ruth Park, Valedictorian and Dr. Amy Pace gave their inspiring speeches to help the graduates in their journey ahead of them. The Junior Marshalls took their places and led the Seniors into the gym and across the platform to receive their diploma. As everyone finished, hats went into the air as a colorful shower of silly string flew everywhere. After the ceremony, many seniors headed to the YMCA for Project Graduation. It was a night full of fun and games. Even though everyone went their separate ways the next morning, memories of East will last forever.

MOMENT IN TIME

Junior Marshalls made the program smooth by telling the graduates to rise and be seated.

Michael Broadway and Emily Harbin strike a pose (well, kind of) during graduation.

Some of the junior marshalls were David Sigmon, Walter Fletcher, Mandi Morgan, Rachel Hills, Kelly Molnar, and with his arm raised high, Michael Broadway! These proud students were glad to be there.

The glow on Amy Nix's face tells it all! Finally, the circle for the seniors is over.

CIRCLING THE GLOBE

The European Vacation

Traveling abroad is one thing that students only dream about, or so one may think. Thanks to Mr. Bill Keel, an English teacher, football trainer, and swimming coach at East Henderson High School, this dream became a reality for seven students.

On July 15, Mr. Keel along with Traynham Dorn, Ashley Hornsby, Darby Medlin, Jennifer Rhodes, Matt Mullinax, Patrick Garrison, and Dustin Gosnell boarded a plane in Charlotte on their way to Europe to spend the most memorable and exciting two weeks in their lives. On the journey, they traveled to Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, and ended in England.

"Europe was the ultimate experience for our students. The trip provided an eye which allowed the student to view cultures and traditions of the Europeans, which was like stepping back into the days of old, Chivalry still reigns in Europe."

While in Europe, everyone was exposed to the different customs and cultures of this foreign world. Everyone was able to try the different foods as well, some liked it while others preferred the more familiar "golden arches" always found on the street corner of each town.

Even if they did not like the exotic cuisine, the small group of seven students still had a wonderful time and saw so many things in the short time span of two weeks that most people do not see in the lifetime. They visited the Leaning Tower of Pisa, The Vatican where they saw the Pope, the Coliseum in Rome, the Eifel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral, the Mona Lisa, toured Versailles Palace, and the Buckingham Palace. Not to mention the boat ride down the Sienne, the overnight train from Italy to Paris, and the ferry ride across the English Channel.

Needless to say, two weeks flew by very quickly and everyone had a wonderful time. However, when they set foot on American ground, the seven students along with Mr. Keel, were very glad to return home.

In front of the most memorable and fascinating places in the world, the Eiffel Tower, stands Patrick Garrison, Ashley Hornsby, Traynham Dorn, Matt Mullinax, Jennifer Rhodes, and Darby Medlin. Paris was nearly the most exciting stops on the two week excursion.

Matt Mullinax, Patrick Garrison, Dustin Gosnell, Darby Medlin, and Ashley Hornsby are all so excited to be in Europe. Here, they are sitting on a stone wall outside of a small cathedral in Alassio, Italy waiting for the tour to begin.

Sitting in the hotel in Paris, Patrick Garrison tries to express just how happy he is to get the chance to sit down and rest his feet after a long day of touring. Blisters and band-aids were not a rare sight on the feet of the travelers after a day's worth of walking.

Anka Belz was one of our foreign exchange students this year. She was very involved with the school and always showed her Eagle Spirit.

A Change From Abroad

Our Own "Foreign Policy"

Jonathan Kahlin was a senior exchange student from Sweden. Jonathan was a key member of our soccer team. His host, David Sigmon, was a great help in Jonathan's transition.

East was host to several exchange students this year. This was a great way for East students, as well as the exchange students, to learn more about another country and its culture. These students were a major part of East by the way of sports, clubs, and other school activities. With many new friendships that were made between exchange students, their host families and the students at East it will be hard to say farewell at the end of the year.

Aydin Usyal was a senior exchange student from Turkey. He was voted as one of the senior superlatives and could always be found helping a confused student with homework.

Sascha Kohler wishes you a year full of peace. Sascha was a junior exchange student this year. Anywhere he went, he was sure to brighten someone's day by leaving them with a smile.

Christoph Wiegrette was a senior exchange student from Germany. He amazed students at lunch with his incredible talent his diablo.

MARDI GRAS 1994

HOMECOMING

With spirits running high and hopes running long, East Henderson's 34th annual Homecoming was one of the best ever. The entire week of Homecoming included many exciting and fun-filled activities. On Monday students came dressed with their clothes inside out, which proved to be interesting for some. As the week progressed students appeared dressed in their pajamas, best shreds, woodstock-type clothing and, of course, green and white. About mid-week the student body was introduced to the Homecoming court. Each girl had high hopes of becoming her class representative. Some girls even entertained the idea that they could be Homecoming Queen. The student body was also introduced to the Powder Queen contestants. Each guy came dressed in his finest feminine attire. On Thursday, students went to their advisors to vote on class representatives and Homecoming Queen. The week's activities ended on Friday with the Powder Puff game. During the Powder Puff game, it was the senior girls versus the junior girls and the sophomore girls versus the freshmen girls. In the end it was the junior and sophomore girls who came out on top. The Powder Puff Queen was also crowned. Jay Sandos was the lucky guy.

Friday night was what everyone had been waiting for. Whether it was the action of the football game or the anticipation of who would be Homecoming Queen, the crowd was full of excitement. At halftime, the court took the field. One by one the representatives were called out. Freshmen Nikki Rhodes, sophomore Alison Ford, junior Ragen Huggins, and senior Christina Guidos were all delighted to be chosen. Then, the moment everyone had been waiting for, Lori Camp was crowned Homecoming Queen. The football team went on to win against Erwin. Students ended the night with a dance that lasted until midnight.

Alison Mathis and Lori Camp are happy that David Olson is keeping them dry with his umbrella. In return, Lori decides to put on David's flower.

Inspired by the down pour, Kylee Maybin and escort Ryan Wells look like they could start "singing in the rain."

Homecoming Queen Lori Camp and escort Jerred Duncan seem extremely happy even though they are soaking wet.

While taking her ride around the football field, Lori Camp flashes a huge smile for the camera. So, where's Jerred?

The 1994 Homecoming court consisted of four freshmen, five sophomores, six juniors, and seven seniors. The court and their escorts sported their best evening attire as they posed for a picture. With forty-four members, this year's court was one of the largest ever.

The gym, beautifully decorated in the colors of the Mardigras theme, played a big role in the Homecoming assembly. It produced a realistic atmosphere that invited the student body to take a stroll down Bourbon Street. As a tribute to the holiday, all twenty-two representatives wore Mardi Gras masks. It was party time for the entire student body!!

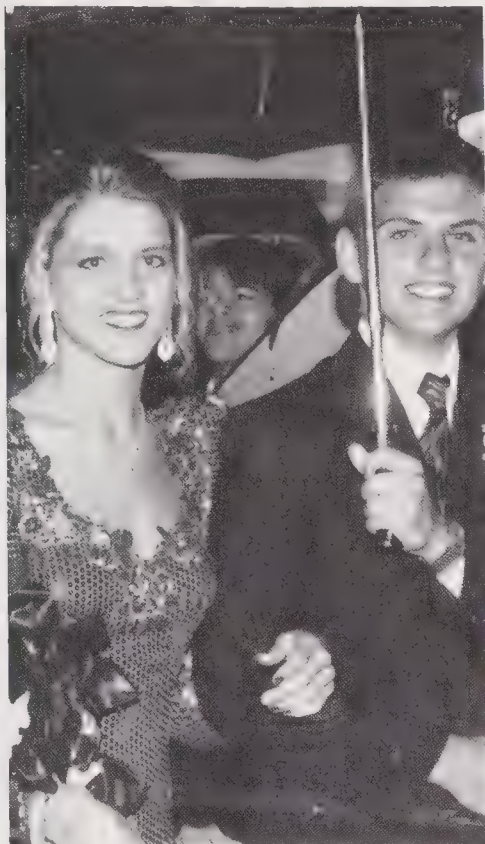

Ragan Huggins helps her escort, Sasha Kohler, put on his corsage. Many of the escorts seemed to have a little trouble with their corsages.

Getting in touch with his feminine side, Jay Sandos models his best dress. It's not so easy being a woman, huh Jay?

Showing off their pearly whites, junior representative Ragan Huggins and escort Sasha Kohler out shined the rain.

Sophomore representative, Alison Ford happily accepts her roses. Escort Brian Fulmer wonders where his are.

Christina Guidos and Henrik Sjoberg are all smiles. After all, Christina was chosen as senior representative.

"This year's Homecoming was special because it was my last as a student at East High. The pouring rain just made it interesting."
— Senior, April Jones

Nathan McCary escorts freshman representative Nikki Rhodes to her spot. They both seem to enjoy the spotlight.

Sophomore court members stand idly by awaiting the recognition of their class representative. Kyle, Edney that is, looks shocked that his picture was taken. So Kyle do you know something we don't or are you up to no good??

MEMORABLE MOMENTS

A night at the football game Travis Hudson and Justin Harris are killing time waiting for the game to start. Everyone tried to get to the game early to find a good seat.

On a special night together Jeff Jones and Amy Rose sit on a bench at the Deer Park where the prom was held. The prom was really exciting to the juniors and seniors of the school.

All dressed up Ashley Hornsby and her date Joe Murphy are ready for the Keywanette Christmas dance. The Keywanette dances were very special, especially to this couple.

When it was that time for April Griffis and Heather Pettit to get their first cars, that meant for everyone to clear off the road! Many students have a lot of worries while they're out on the road, especially for their first year of driving.

Taking time out from P.E. two of our freshmen, Kellie Patterson and Jodi Ushery, smile for the camera.

"What are you doing in the tree, girls? Shouldn't you be in class?"

SOME THINGS NEVER CHANGE

"What a crowd!" Mrs. Lewis's class takes a break from math to give us a friendly grin.

These two girls give a whole new meaning to the phrase "Lean on Me."

Big man Isaac Bayne stands watching two boys act "crazy".

"Aren't we cute?" Anna Drake and Suzanne Sommers were always together no matter what.

"What are you looking at, Chris?" ask Harley Gordon and Timothy Levi. These three take a break from class.

Spending time together for these girls was not uncommon. Kim, Sommer, and Beth enjoy being with one another.

During lunch, a crowd of friends get together to smile for the camera.

Goofing off after a well-balanced meal, this threesome stops to smile.

"Friends are friends all the time. They support you in good times and bad." — Ashley James

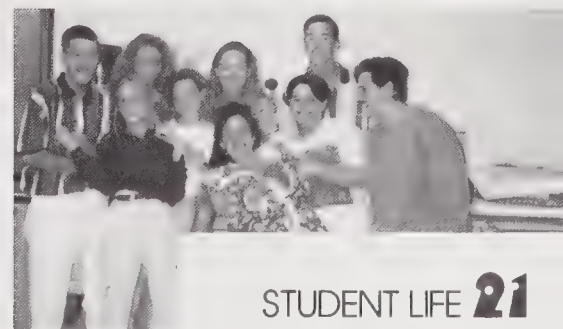

"Friendship means a lot to me. You can never have enough friends." — Jennifer Capps

"What are you doing out of class, boys?" Catching Micheal Jones and Matt Atkins together wasn't a big surprise.

Some friends in Mr. Bailey's class take time to say "cheese". They jumped at the chance to get out of work.

Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein orders his troops to the border of oil-rich Kuwait. The U.S. sends 350 warplanes to the area to support the Kuwaiti forces. By October 11, Hussein orders the withdrawal of most of his forces.

Russian President Boris Yeltsin calls out his poorly trained military to subdue a rebellion in Chechnya, a southern republic the size of Connecticut. Critics accuse Yeltsin of resorting to totalitarian methods of the old communist Soviet regime to keep the shaky Russian Federation unified.

Europe's worst flood in this century kills at least 30 people across Europe. Inland floods caused by melting Alpine snow and relentless rains hit Belgium, France, Germany, and the Netherlands, whose famous dike system begins to crumble late in January 1995 in the face of rampaging rivers. Dutch authorities evacuate 250,000 people from the lowlands.

Camilla Parker Bowles, allegedly Prince Charles' mistress, announces her divorce from her husband, Andrew Parker Bowles. Princess Diana is said to be negotiating a divorce from Charles, who will be free to remarry without giving up the throne—unless unhappy subjects force a referendum on the monarchy.

More than 900 passengers die, 140 are rescued when the Estonia, a 15,500-ton Baltic ferry sinks off the coast of Finland in a violent nighttime storm. The storm's 30-foot waves swamp the ship which lists and sinks in a matter of minutes.

Tipper Gore, wife of U.S. Vice President Al Gore, visits Rwandan refugee camps in Zaire in July. Thousands of refugees, fleeing ethnic conflict in Rwanda, die of cholera, dysentery, and other infectious diseases. Fresh water supplied by the United States military greatly reduces the number of cholera deaths.

When their Army helicopter accidentally strays into North Korea in December, Chief Warrant Officers Bobby Wayne Hall and David Hilemon are shot down by the communists. Washington does not admit to espionage as the North Koreans want, but negotiates for survivor Bobby Hall's release by expressing its sincere regret over the intrusion.

Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasir Arafat returns to Palestine in July 1994 after 27 years of exile in Tunisia. Arafat kisses the ground in the Gaza Strip, now a Palestinian autonomous zone under the terms of a 1993 peace accord with Israel.

Millions of South Africans travel weary hours and wait in mile-long lines to vote in the first all-race elections. After more than a century of white rule, the voters choose former political prisoner Nelson Mandela to preside over the dismantling of apartheid.

Jimmy Carter, former U.S. president and self-styled global troubleshooter for peace, negotiates on behalf of the U.S. in Haiti, Bosnia, and North Korea. He even offers to help settle the baseball strike.

In Japan, an earthquake with a magnitude of 7.2 collapses buildings, derails trains, buckles elevated expressways, and causes fires throughout the city of Kobe. Over 5,000 people are killed and 26,000 injured. The Japan quake occurs January 17, 1995, one year to the day after a quake devastated Los Angeles.

U.S. President Bill Clinton, right, and British Prime Minister John Major take part in ceremonies in June 1994 at a military cemetery during the 50th anniversary commemoration of the Allied D-Day invasion of Europe, the event that sealed the fate of Nazi Germany during World War II.

India suffers an outbreak of pneumonic plague, carried by flea-infested vermin. Workers in Bombay earn five rupees for each exterminated rat; one thousand rat-tails earns a color TV.

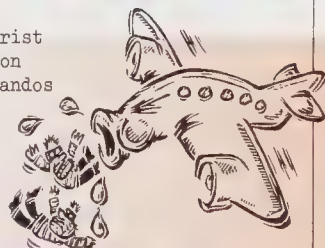

Chinese school children, dressed to look like Colonel Sanders, welcome the president of Kentucky Fried Chicken to Shanghai in May 1994. Few of the country's many foreign business ventures thrive, but KFC becomes a Chinese favorite. The finger-lickin' enterprise makes plans to expand its outlets from 28 to 200.

Triumphant Jean-Bertrand Aristide reclaims his position as president and restores democracy to Haiti with the help of U.S. troops. Haiti had suffered under the rule of a military junta led by General Raoul Cedras, who goes into exile after reaching an agreement with U.S. mediators.

In one of the most successful antiterrorist operations in aviation history, French commandos storm an Air France jet-liner and kill four Algerian hijackers, freeing the plane's 173 passengers and crew.

Thousands of Cubans flee their economically depressed homeland, hoping for a better life in America. Many set off on homemade rafts and other small vessels only to be intercepted by the U.S. Coast Guard. The United States and Cuba reach an agreement in September that allows 20,000 Cuban immigrants to enter the United States each year.

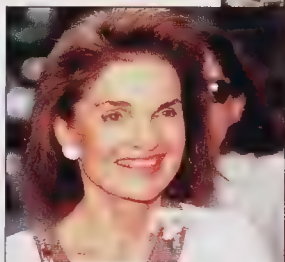

In the wake of the 1994 Los Angeles earthquake and the southern California wildfires of 1993, California experiences more natural disasters in January 1995 when rainstorms cause flooding that kills 11 people and leaves 3,000 others homeless. Flooding is so high in Santa Barbara, fun-seeking teenagers dive off a freeway overpass into 15 feet of water. President Clinton declares 34 counties federal disaster areas.

In 1994, the U.S. registers a one-year population growth of 2.7 million. One-third of the increase is due to immigration, the largest such influx since 1914.

Author and humanities professor, Ralph Ellison, dies at age 80. His 1952 novel, Invisible Man, has been called the most powerful novel written about alienation, identity, and racism in America.

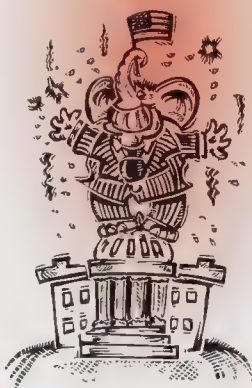

A huge increase in killings by 14- to 24-year-olds raises the nation's homicide rate, while violence blamed on preteens rocks communities nationwide. A boy, 13, is sentenced to life for strangling a four-year-old. In Chicago, an 11-year-old boy kills a 14-year-old girl and is then executed by his own gang. In Washington state a pair of 12-year-olds shoot a migrant worker.

The death of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in May 1994 marks the end of an era, a time when America was prosperous, fighting for civil rights, and heading for the moon. The former first lady is buried next to her husband, President John F. Kennedy, in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D.C.

A rare white buffalo named Miracle draws crowds to the humble Wisconsin farm where it was born August 20. Native Americans believe the calf is the fulfillment of a Lakota Sioux prophecy. Five hundred years ago, White Buffalo Woman told her people that she would return as a white calf to usher in a new age of harmony between all races of mankind.

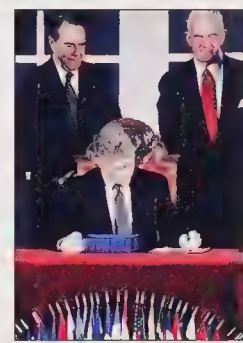

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration blasts the tobacco company executives at a congressional hearing in March 1994 for denying that nicotine, a drug found in cigarette smoke, is addictive. Tobacco industry workers fear losing their jobs if the FDA succeeds in classifying and restricting cigarettes as a drug.

The Flint River overflows, washing coffins out of a Georgia cemetery after torrential rains from tropical storm Alberto flood Georgia and the Florida-Alabama panhandle. Thirty-two people die, 40,000 are temporarily homeless, and 10,000 square miles are underwater, causing $100 million in crop damage.

Former football star O.J. Simpson is charged with the June 12th stabbing death of his ex-wife Nicole and her friend Ronald Goldman, causing a non-stop media avalanche. The sensational case familiarized watchers with spouse abuse, a televised ride in a white Ford Bronco, "Kato" Kaelin, and DNA testing. Simpson faces the jury in January.

A lively new cafe society centers around the 5,000 gourmet coffeeshops which spring up around the country. To the often young and trendy patrons, the social interaction is just as important as the espresso. Some cafes offer full-time Internet links so patrons can sip and chat with other Internet latte-drinkers.

Yoga, a Hindu system of stretching exercises for well-being, surges in popularity, mostly because the older generation seeks a technique for alleviating stress and finds yoga better than aerobics.

Seniors

n i n e t y

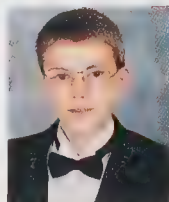

The year that every student waits for has finally come for the class of 1995 at East Henderson High School. One's senior year is filled with many exciting, memorable, and lasting experiences.

From the first time when they enter the school as seniors, to the night when they put on their caps and gown and receive their diplomas, many emotions are felt between the senior class.

When seniors look back on all of their years of schooling, they think back on all of the changes that have taken place since the beginning. Before anybody knows it, the senior class of 1995 is standing outside the doors of the new gym nervously waiting to march in to their song and one by one receive diplomas. When seniors enter those doors, it is the last time they will enter as students of East High. When they exit, they will be graduates moving on to the next circle of life. The hardest part is not what lies ahead, but what we leave behind.

What is the best thing about being a senior? "That's a hard question!" "It's almost over." Dusty Walker Powder Puff "Queen" Mr., or should we say Miss, Jay Sandos. Jay shows that the senior class does reign supreme.

The senior class is willing to do anything to promote school spirit. These guys went the extra mile by dressing up as cheerleaders for the powder puff game.

Circle Of Life

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Our circle is finally complete. We are now seniors and on the road to the future. As we leave one circle we, in turn, enter a new one. The circle of life. Seniors have many decisions to make concerning their future. We must choose a path that will set us in a new direction. We must decide what college to go to, what we want to major in, or where to find a job. SAT's, College Applications, and Scholarships were all part of the senior scene. Making the grade became an important to seniors in order to become better prepared for the future. Many students couldn't wait to receive their diplomas. For many, it came sooner with the new 4-by-4 System. This was a welcome change for many students. Many students received endless stacks of brochures from many colleges. They also went and toured the colleges they were interested in. This gave them a better understanding of the colleges by seeing it first hand and meeting some of the students. One's senior year is definitely filled with responsibility. It really began to hit many students that were becoming independent adults and for many, it was a long-awaited change.

College was a place most seniors were looking forward to going. The only challenge now, choosing the right one.

Mandi Morgan holds up her college application with a smile. Filling out applications often took a lot of time, but hopefully in the end, it would be worth the effort.

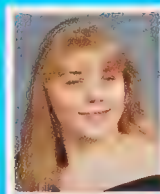

Chris Peterson has already started his plans for the future. He has received his pilot's license and plans to attend college in the field of aviation.

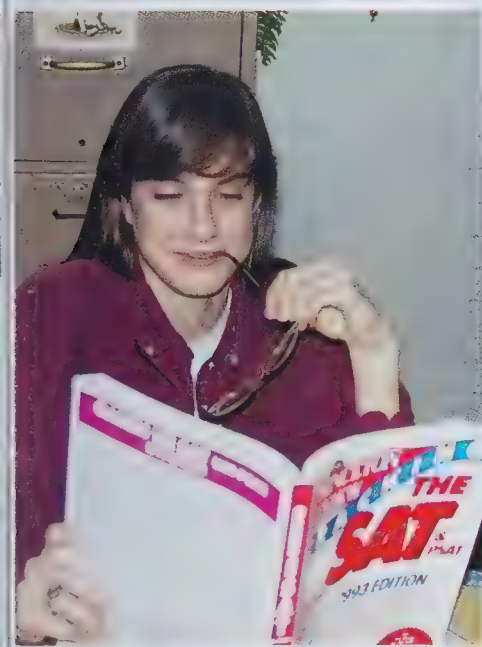

How does it feel to be a senior?

"It's about time"

Adam Henderson

"It feels good to get out of here, but it went by so fast."
Holly Benson

Carrie Shaffer reads over a book to help her prepare for the SAT. SAT's were a must if students wanted to attend college.

Keith Pridmore, Bryan Fowler, and Kevin Pridmore show that even after they leave high school true friends will always keep in touch.

Bryan Merrell seems hard at work. Many students had jobs in order to save money for the future.

The Junior class of 1995 is definitely a unique and busy one, filled with some very interesting individuals giving this class a "Circle of Personality". One of the first things that may come to mind when one thinks of the Junior class is all of the new freedoms and experiences they receive and go through. Some examples of this are driving, getting to attend the Prom, taking the SAT, and that is just the beginning.

Perhaps the most exciting part of one's Junior year is the Prom. This is an event that students wait in great anticipation to happen.

Along with the fun and excitement however, the Junior year of high school is also very stressful. This is the year in which students really get serious about school and start to apply and look at college. Juniors take the SAT several times throughout the school year, and classes such as Chemistry, U.S. History, and many others make this a difficult year academically for Juniors.

The wonderful part of being a Junior is realizing that the Senior year is not far away. Just one more year to go and the Junior class of 1995 will be marching in while the rest of the school stands in envy. Eventually, the Junior class of this year will exit the doors of this school for the last time as graduates of East High. To the Junior class of 1995, the best is yet to come! Good Luck and Best Wishes!

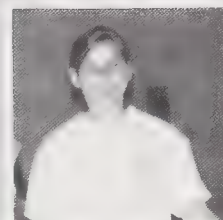

Does anyone know the answer? Matt Mullinax, Ryan Hollingsworth, and Eric Voigt try to solve a math problem. Johan Sjoberg, Ashley Hornsby, Matt Atkins, Hallie West, and Matt Mullinax are the perfect definition of peace, love, and happiness on Woodstock Day, during Spirit Week.

Working hard, annual staff members Elizabeth Whaley and Ashley Hornsby draw layouts. They tried very hard to try to make this year's annual unforgettable.

Concentrating very hard during one of the many soccer games, Eric Voigt tries to figure out where the ball went.

While sitting in Mr. Keel's SAT class during the first semester, Jennifer Dean takes a break and reads the paper. Jen always had a smile on her face.

Willing to bare it all for the Junior class, Tony Leslie shows everyone what he is made of. Watch out East!

"I LIKE BEING A JUNIOR BECAUSE THE TEACHERS KNOW US BETTER AND THE STUDENTS TREAT US WITH MORE RESPECT."

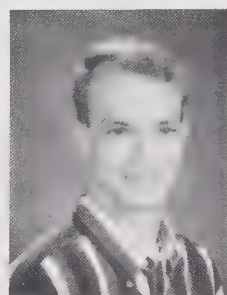

Being kind to animals is a trait of many Juniors. Henry Maternowski and Heather Petitt have stolen Mr. Brumbaugh's bunny, Sam once again.

Megan McGraw is one happy Junior! Even though she is in class for 90 minutes, Megan still flashes a smile.

While waiting patiently for Coach Link to enter his classroom, Jamey Fisher, Candi Maybin, and Brandy Gray catch up on the latest gossip. Students took advantage of the rare occasions when the teachers were late to class.

PUT ON A HAPPY FACE

Temporarily switching roles, Monica Lindsey and Amy McCall play teacher. The first rule is no talking in class and the teacher is always right!

Changing Frowns Into Smiles

Many students at East High are actively involved in numerous clubs that we have here. Hallie West takes time out of her busy schedule to do a chore for Keywanettes

April Griffis looks a little confused while Tracy Smith tries not to laugh. Confusion is a big part of being a Junior.

What some people will do for their school is absolutely incredible! Carrie Boyd eats breakfast at six o'clock in the morning at Denny's while sporting a new trend in make-up.

Frantically running out the door, Amy Limbaugh tries not to get stuck with those big bags. Sometimes Juniors had so much to do, they felt like they had to carry their whole house and the kitchen sink with them.

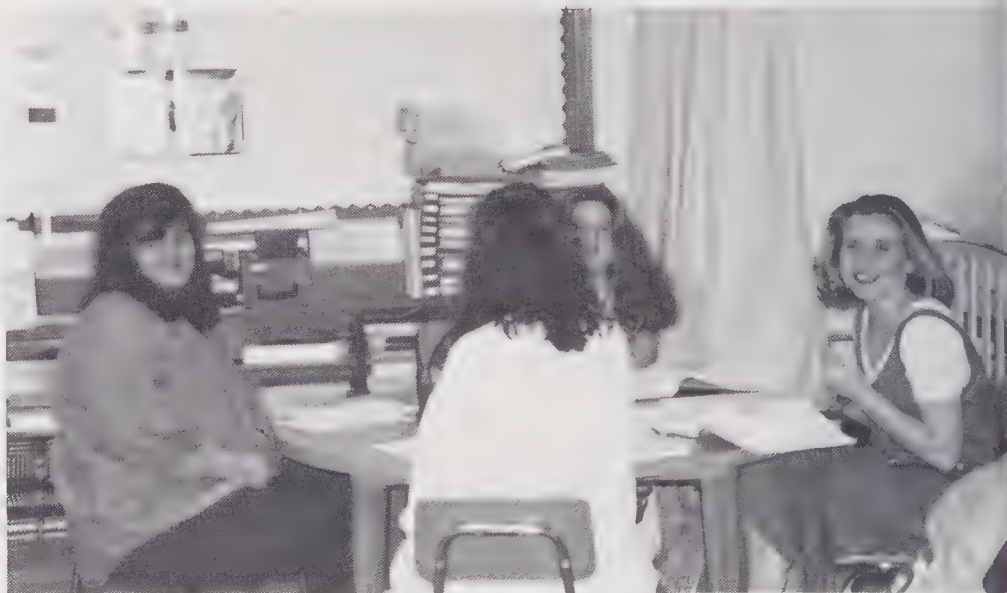

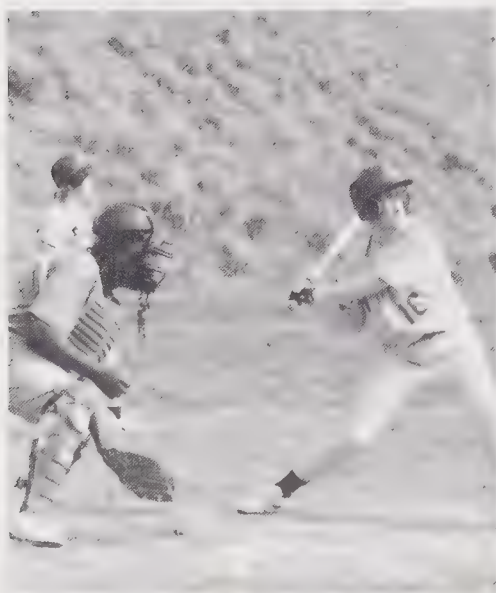

Jennifer Smith prepares for cheerleading practice by flashing a smile at the camera. Smiling and being cheerful is an important part of being a Varsity cheerleader.

Is this a take-off on "Beverly Hills-90210" or what? However, it is East Flat Rock-28726!

THE CLASS OF 1996 . . .

One To Remember

The Junior class of 1995 at East Henderson High School definitely, without a doubt, makes up the circle of personality here. The Junior class makes sure that there is never a dull moment. Between all of the car accidents and parties on the weekends, one may wonder how the Juniors manage to have time to excel in the classroom. However, this class never ceases to amaze anyone because many of the Juniors have an impressive 4.0 GPA. One of the best things about being a Junior is that there is only one more year left. This Junior class will make a very strong Senior class next year. The class of 1996 will be one to remember.

During the softball game against Polk, Felecia Marshall concentrates very hard on the ball before she swings. Softball is one of the many sports that Juniors participate in.

Carrie Boyd, Jamie Caudle, and Megan McGraw work very hard in Health Occupations class. All three of these girls are so happy because this is the last class of the day.

Junior, Megan McGraw attempts to tackle Senior, Heidi Cagle during the annual Powder Puff game between the Juniors and Seniors. This takes place every year during the week of Homecoming. This year the Juniors defeated the Seniors.

As Mandy Schuler hurries along to her next class of the day, she kindly takes the time to smile for the camera. Even though the school days, at times were very hectic, students still found the time to enjoy themselves.

Ricky Snelson catches Marci Cooper off guard during drama class. It is not difficult to find people day dreaming throughout the course of the day.

CLASS OF NINETY SEVEN

The sophomore class has been through quite a few changes in the past few years. They were the first freshmen class at East Henderson in many years, which was quite a challenge. This year they faced another major change: the change from the seven period day to a four period day. Together they have struggled through, hopefully, the most dramatic changes that this class will face for the rest of their high school years.

We asked some sophomores how it felt not to be treated as the "babies" anymore. Here is what they had to say:

"I think it is cool because you do not have people walking on you anymore, and I feel that you have reached the level where everyone is equal." — Kelly Case

"When you are a sophomore you do not have to take anything from anybody and it is fun giving the lower classmen a hard time." — Caroline Castle

We also asked Jennifer Capps how she felt about the four by four plan. She replied, "I hate it. It is way too long to sit in one class."

The sophomores have toughed out the first two years of high school. They are now two years wiser. This class still has two more years to grow and learn. During the hard times, the sophomores have stuck together, helping each other as they went along.

We wish you the best and hope you can go through the next two years of high school with an attitude of being one of the best classes to graduate from East Henderson High School.

Telling them how it is, Bridget Ramo fusses at her class. It wasn't unusual to find her straightening people up.

"Say cheese, Timothy." Most students were glad to stop and smile for the camera.

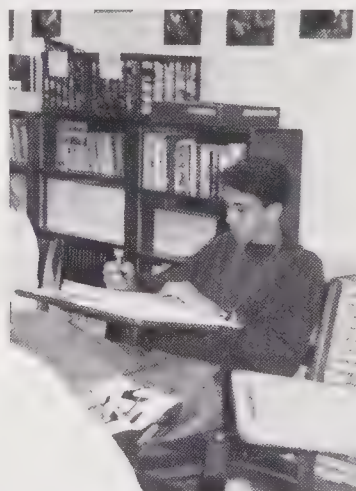

Mandy helps Crystal clean out her locker. It was very uncommon to see a clean locker at this school.

"It is cooler being a sophomore because the upper classmen do not look down on you any longer."
— Shana Kitchen

Sitting in class, Jose dreams away. English class was a hard class to stay awake in.

Shawn concentrates hard on his work. Math was a very hard class.

MORE Than You'd Expect

"Who's the letter for, Christina?" Most students found other things more entertaining than just plain school work.

Being a Sophomore at East High is SUPERB! — Jason Gladwell

The Freshman class of '94-95' has experienced a dramatic change over the past year. They have gone from being the first eighth grade class to experience the middle school concept to being the first ever freshmen to go through the four by four plan. We asked some of the freshmen how this change has affected their lives. "The change was not difficult for me, but it was really different having just four classes instead of seven," says ninth grade Vice President, Kelly McGraw. We also asked Veronica Hoots what she thought about the new four by four plan. Her response was, "I feel like we learn a lot more from this system because the classes are longer and you get more individual attention from your teacher in class."

For the freshmen another major change was from being the dominant class to feeling inferior to upper-classmen. Many of the students managed to adjust well because they had older brothers, sisters, or cousins who attended East High. Others only knew their friends from last year. This made the year harder because they were having to meet new people and adjust to not seeing all of their old friends. Although this took time they managed to adjust rather well.

By going through these difficult, yet very important changes, the freshman class has taken the first major step into the "Circle of Change".

Freshmen Class Officers: Kris Maybin, President; Kelly McGraw, Vice President; and Beth Wehrly, Secretary.

Alex Allman and Shyloew Johnson hit the books during Ms. Sentell's fourth period class. As you can see, they're busy at work.

Jeremy Neal attempts to hit yet another student while in English class. Meanwhile, the rest of the class tries to concentrate on their studies. Freshmen had to get ready for an end of the year test.

"I like East. It's better than Flat Rock."

Being her usual self, Alli McDade strikes a pose. You could always expect funny things out of her. Alli could always put someone in a good mood.

After receiving his message in the office, Eric Hawkins takes his time going back to class. Many students took advantage of this time out of class.

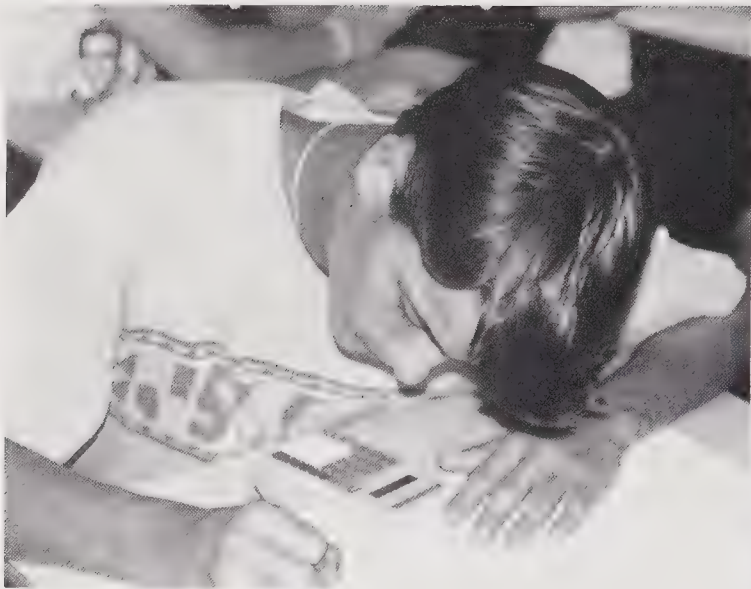

"This year has been pretty exciting, but it was rough trying to find my new classes."

What a wild bunch Coach Shook has for science. The exception is Tasha Dorn of course! Physical science was a must for 9th graders.

Teela Waggoner and Beth Owenby goof off while taking their laps in P.E. Whenever these two were together you could always find them laughing and joking around.

Bryan Duncan concentrates on solving his Algebra problems. That calculator really comes in handy doesn't it Bryan? The class of 1998 must all have Algebra.

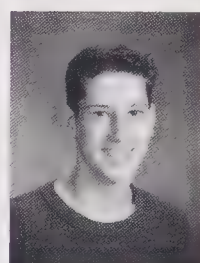

Jess and Daniel look up just in time to smile for the camera. These students are always hard at work. Grades were important to freshmen.

"What are you talking about?" asks Tracy Freeman as she catches the end of a conversation. You always had to explain things twice when Tracy was around.

Josh Petty and Derrick Sexton introduce their topic for Coach Edney. In the meantime, Tsali Pace waits patiently for his turn to talk. Government and Economics was a course that taught students the elements of America's political system.

Looking Beyond The Circle

THE FUTURE OF OUR FRESHMEN

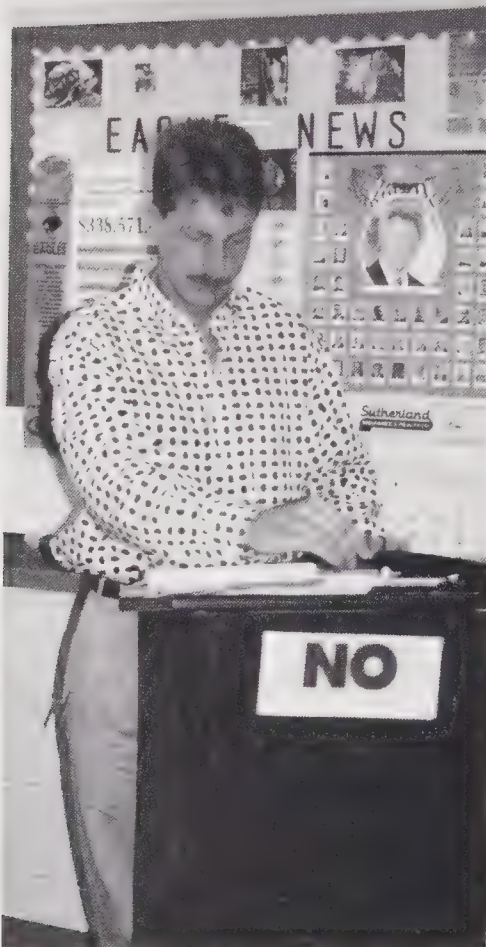

Many of the Freshmen are beginning to wonder what the future holds for them. Some participate in activities such as Student Government Association, Principles of Business, Teen Living, Keyboarding, Theatre, Dance, Chorus, and sports. These courses and activities may help them decide what they want to do in the future.

Now is a very important time in every Freshman's life. This year they need to begin buckling down and studying hard. They also need to pick the classes they enjoy, but also the classes they will need to have in order to graduate and go on to college.

College life will be very different from your life as a high school student because you will be facing many difficult obstacles. Although it may be difficult, college life will also be very exciting because you will finally get to experience what true freedom, is like.

With freedom comes responsibility. That means that you will have the freedom but you need to be responsible for your actions. This also means that you will have to make sure that you get all of your work and studying done. Some of your responsibilities include doing your own laundry, getting your own food, doing homework, and being on your own.

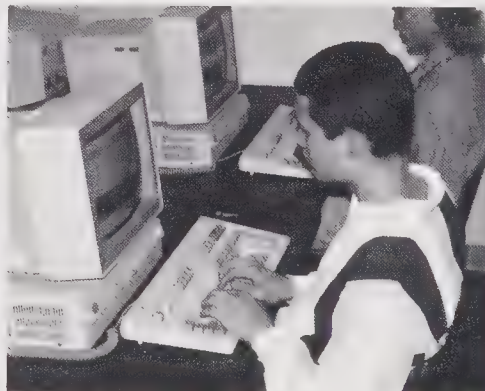

Don't put off what you can start doing now. The future begins now, in the freshman year.

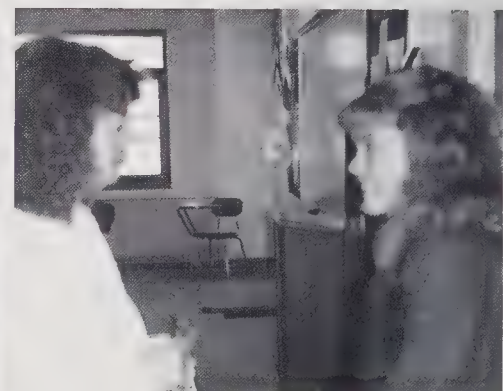

Coach Edney finishes talking to his SGA class about public speaking. This is an important skill that everyone will all have to use later on in life.

Jason Baker experiments with water color paints in Ms. Jones's class. Taking this class is a good way to see if you could be an artist.

Andrew Sanders keeps his eyes on the row. Maybe one day he will be able to use these skills at a job of his own.

Nikki gets pointers from Mrs. Rhodes, her mother. Maybe she will follow in her mom's footsteps and become a teacher also.

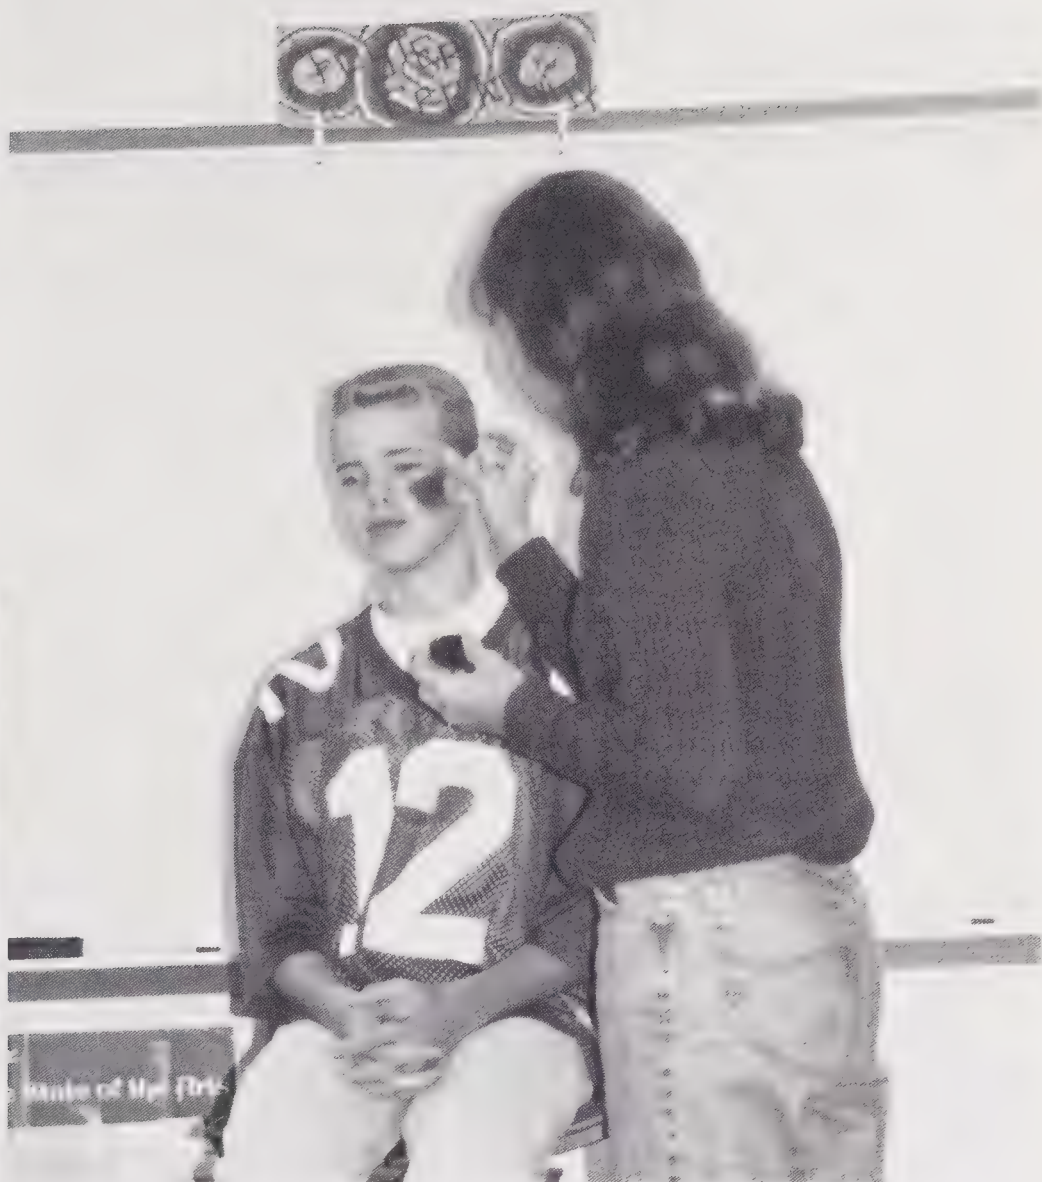

Mitchell Baynard tries his hardest to learn how to set up computer programs. Mrs. Sluder watches to see if he does it right.

Beth Easler focuses on the beat of the music. Beth's goal in life is to become a professional dancer.

Ben and Jennifer try to set up a sewing machine in teen living. If they learn how to sew anything they will make pretty good home-makers.

During drama, Christin Rose practices a makeup technique on Keith Patterson. Practicing this now will help Christin pursue a career as a makeup artist.

A Special Circle Of Students

Overcoming Boundaries

Here at East Henderson we have a very special group of students. For the past three years we have had the multihandicapped program. The students in this program are classified with severe profound multihandicapped disabilities. This, however, does not keep them from being an active part of the school. The goal of the multihandicapped program is to prepare the students for occupational workshop, which is a workshop here in town where the students receive work from companies such as General Electric. The multihandicapped program also teaches students skills to live as independently as possible.

This year our program has seven special young people. A typical day for these students involves some intermediate school work, trips to the library, time with speech, physical, and occupational therapists, and adaptive P.E., which has activities limited to individual ability. Throughout the year the students take trips to Bilo for grocery shopping, have picnics at Patton Park, and celebrate Christmas with a party at First Baptist Church. Our students also participate in Special Olympics. In Special Olympics the students compete with other students from the Western North Carolina region. If they win at regionals they will go on to the state level and then on to the national level. This is a fun and enjoyable time for these students because they can show off their skills.

These students are a very special part of our school. Along with Christy Ogletree and Sheryl Searey these students help make East High the best that it can be.

Mrs. Ogletree gives a lending hand to Larry. The teachers in the Multihandicapped class must be very caring to give the needed support to the students.

Sonya loved having her picture taken so much that she didn't pay the teachers any attention. The teachers and students in this class shared a special band.

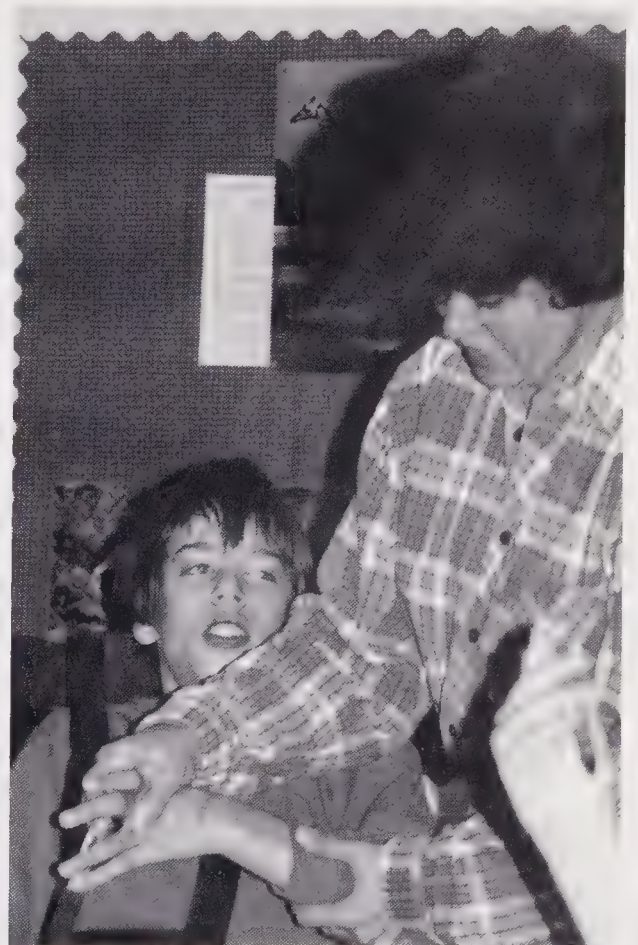

Mrs. Ogletree and Thomas look like they are having a blast sponge painting. The result of Thomas's painting was beautiful.

Ashely wants to know what everyone else is doing. He says, "I'm tired of doing my work."

Mrs. Searey helps Mark to do an arts and crafts activity. Times like these are very enjoyable to the students.

Circling The Campus

STUDENT HOT SPOTS

School would be dull without the alternative lessons to study throughout the day. In the Senior Circle it is common to see students who are taking a course in "Hacking 101" and of course there is the extra English credit to be had in communications while catching up on all the gossip from a friend. Ginny Morrow likes to hang out in the Senior Circle. "I socialize and catch up on all the news traveling around the school." The gym is another hot spot where students can work on that extra P.E. credit by participating in intramural sports. After senior Christy Summey eats in the lunchroom she always walks over to the gym. "I like to watch all the guys in action."

The library is also a great place to read about all the latest Hollywood gossip and learn more about what is going on in our small town of Hendersonville.

Before and after school many students like to socialize in the parking lots. Meeting friends and checking out all the different cars are just two of the activities that take place in these busy places. Our parking areas are not just for parking anymore!

The front lawn of our school is also a busy place. Some students like to sit on the grass in warmer weather and catch up on homework and some more athletic students like to play volleyball or football. It was not unusual to see the front lawn occupied by students whether it was raining or sunny.

As you can see, East offers many alternatives to just studying in the classroom. There are lots of different hangouts where people can go to earn "extra" credits or, if needed, to get away from the pressures of the classroom.

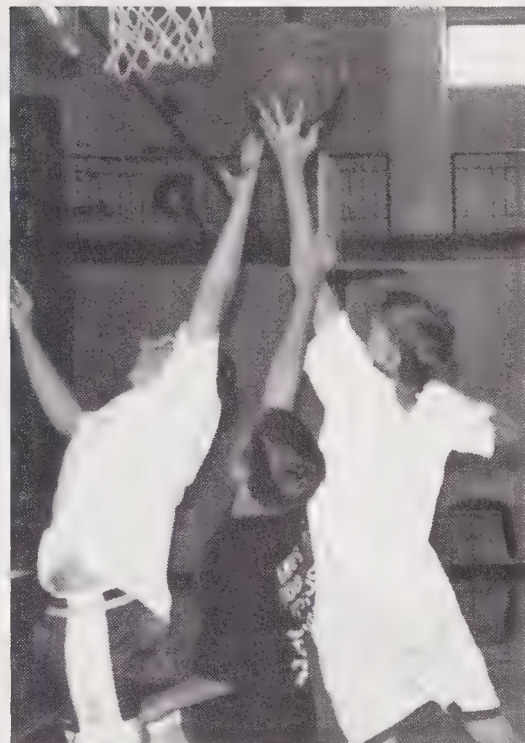

Hacking was a popular hobbie for students at East. At almost any spot on campus you could find students displaying their hacking abilities.

The benches set up around campus were a popular gathering spot. You could always find students putting our beautiful campus to good use.

The Gym — Was there any other place for some students? With everything from basketball to volleyball, our gym was a definite hot spot.

The library proved useful to the students at East. Whether catching up on last minute homework or reading a good magazine, students could always be found circulating in the library.

After school students gather outside the school. Everyone enjoyed talking about the days events with friends.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

COACH CHRIS SHERRILL

The "Teacher of the Year" award is a very prestigious and special honor. The faculty here at East High were proud to elect Mr. Chris Sherrill as our Teacher of the Year for the 1994-95 school year.

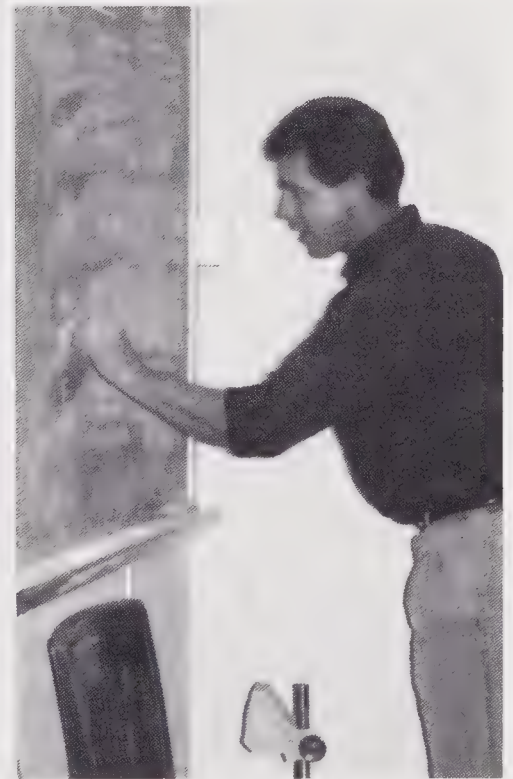

Coach Sherrill grew up within a family of educators. He feels that teaching is what he is supposed to be doing with his life. Coach Sherrill is originally from Virginia. He attended the University of Virginia and received a Bachelor's Degree in American Government. He came to the conclusion that teaching government was not the best way to show his talent. Coach Sherrill then attended Lenoir-Rhyne and took classes to become a math teacher. He is currently teaching various Algebra classes, and Coach Sherrill has taught at East High for five years.

Coach Sherrill feels that in the classroom there is never a dull moment and that you have to be prepared for anything. When asked about his teaching philosophy, Coach Sherrill said, "I expect my students to take on some responsibility and to be accountable for their actions. I care about each one individually. Teaching math is important, but more importantly I want to provide each student with means, tools, and confidence to be a successful person. I care just as much with means, tools, and confidence to be a successful person. I care just as much about the student that can barely add as I care about the brightest individual I have ever taught." In addition to teaching, Coach Sherrill also coaches football in the fall and track in the spring. He feels the best part of coaching and teaching is challenging the students and knowing that he can make a difference in someone's life. Coach Sherrill is definitely making differences at East, and this is why he has been chosen as Teacher of the Year. Congratulations Coach Sherrill!!!

During his planning period, Coach Sherrill takes the time to grade papers and go over the assignments for the day. Grading tests is an important part of being a teacher.

One of the main reasons Coach Sherrill is such a good teacher is that he takes the time to explain the assignment. He is trying to teach his students what "x" equals.

Sports are a great way for students to get involved in school activities, and show their athletic abilities. Sports give the students the opportunity to qualify for college scholarships. When it comes to sports everyone gets involved, the ball players, cheerleaders, and fans. Pep Rallies are the number one way to get everyone excited before the games. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is a great club to introduce the athletes of East Henderson High School. The school holds special banquets for the athletes and their parents, to recognize outstanding athletes for their hard work through the different seasons.

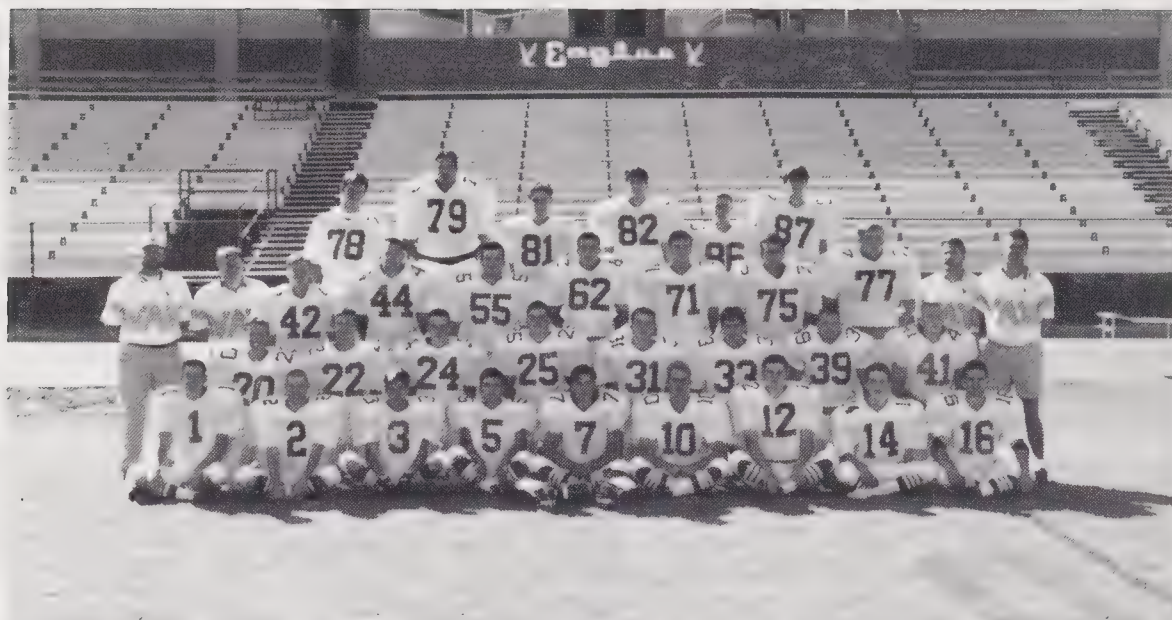

Up to bat, Bobby Styles keeps his eye on the ball for a home run. When it came to baseball, the players took their games and practices seriously for a good season.

Ryan Abel struggles to gain control at an away wrestling match. Wrestling is a sport that requires great strength and patience.

“ As for me and my fellow teammates, I feel that we had one of the best years that East has had in a long time! ”

“ We started out kind of slow, but we then had a victory over Polk that got us going. I'm glad we had such a successful season! ”

Lined up against our rival, West Henderson, our offense prepares to take the victory.

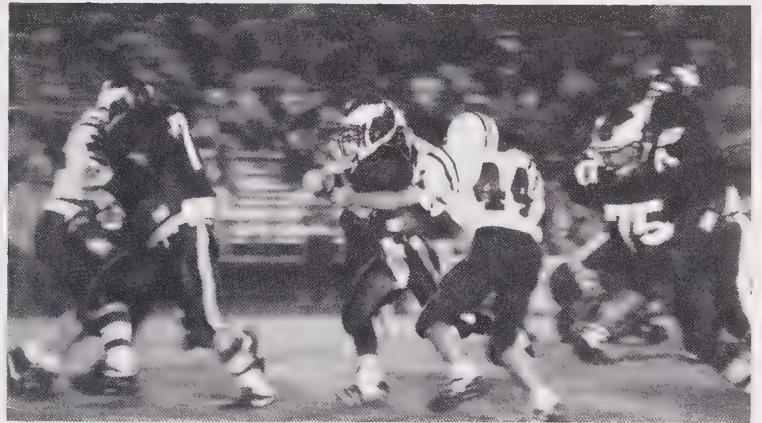

While taking a break, T.J. Ballard concentrates on the game. T.J. was one of the main players on the defensive team.

Crowded together, players of the team make plans for the next move. Team work was the most important aspect of the football teams strategy.

During the Friday night football game, Shaun Gibbs makes his way down the middle trying to avoid being tackled by an Erwin warrior.

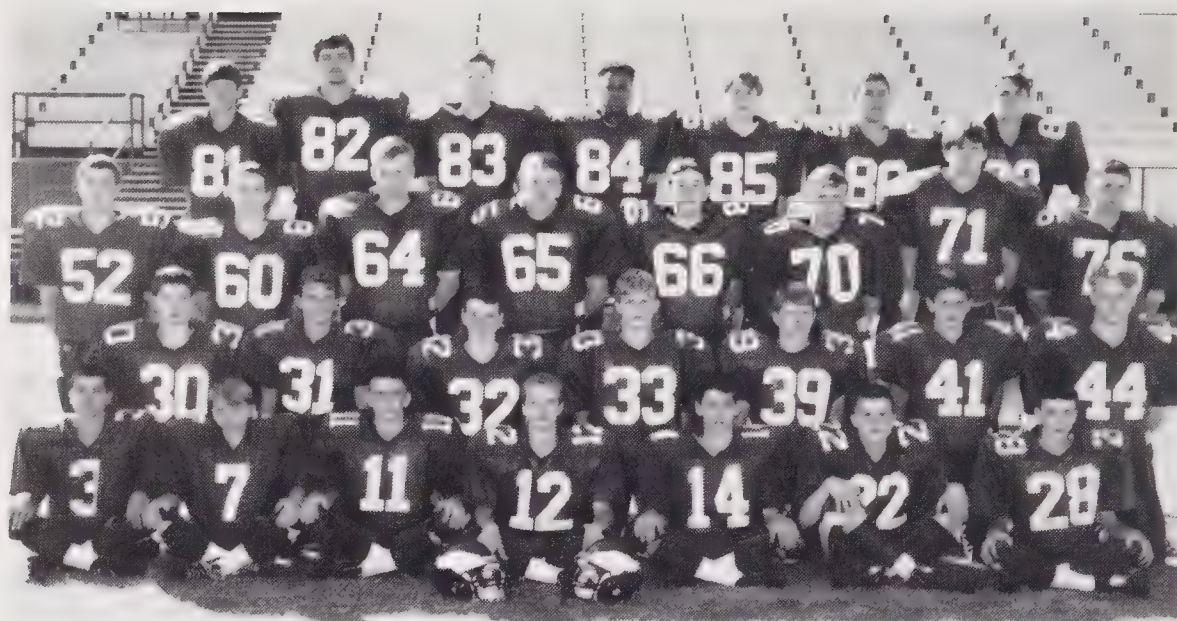

Football this year was a real success. At the beginning of the season the East Henderson Eagles got off to a rocky start, but then the Eagles soared to a 7-3 season. The Eagles became 5-0 in the Apple County Conference. Even though the team couldn't attend the playoffs, that didn't stop the Eagles from rising to the top. The senior football players proved themselves the experienced and motivated players finishing out a great football career. The Eagles definitely established themselves as a power in the Apple County Conference. Not only did the Eagle Team highlight homecoming with a victory, but they also relished in the glory of beating rival, West Henderson High School on the final game. Beating Hendersonville and North was also a great booster for the team. Coach Sanders said one of the keys to this years successful season was the fact that the team never gave up. He also felt like the topper for the team was defeating Polk County by scoring a last second touchdown to send the game into overtime where the Eagles dominated the field. Looking towards next year, all of the coaches agree that determination will be the key to success.

Making It To The Top!

J.V. FOOTBALL

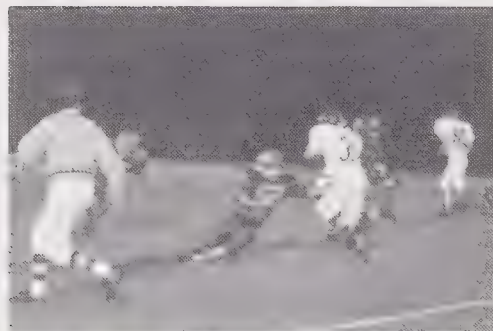

The 1994 J.V. Football Team with a record of 6 and 3 will continue to fine tune their selves for the next level no matter what it might be.

"It was hard, but with a lot of effort, I like the others, made it through," Freshman Luther Morris.

Sophomore Ryan Wells, "This year went much better than last year because we had more experience and more sophomore leadership."

Ryan Harris's style of running was one that opposing defenses hated. He did not hit you, he exploded through you.

Isaac Bayne prepares to throw a block on an unwilling defensive back. Isaac was a pounding blocker with great hands.

Coach Justus gives another speech to energize the offense. These speeches were enough to make anyone play harder.

Brian Smith checks out the opposing kickoff team. The best way to get a touchdown is knowing who to block.

The J.V. football team started the season slow, but went out with a bang. Lead by a host of returning sophomores like Quarterback Ryan Wells and Lineman Stacey Drake the more mature Eagles pulverized opponents on their way to a 6 and 3 record.

The defense was like a brick wall and the offense was a finely oiled machine, both working in unison to win. The special teams looked astonishing, making the return teams pay dearly for their runs. The kicking game was another story of the same book. Started by Darren Brown and finished by Wayne Jones these two impressed everyone in the stands with their "Golden Feet."

The one thing that makes a team win is team work; well, this bunch of young men had a fair share of that by the inspirations of their coaches, Justus and Edney. The sophomores and freshmen worked extremely well together in practice as well as in the all important games. Everything seemed to run smooth and as the season progressed it ran even smoother.

The J.V. Football teams season finished with losses only to West, Reynolds, and T.C. Roberson. Victories were against Pisgah, Brevard, Chase, North, and Polk to finish the season with a 6 and 3 record and in a tie for the ACC crown.

Varsity cheerleaders Christina Guidos and Amy Limbaugh show off their many hours of hard work in a stunt. A lot of times, cheerleading is harder than it appears. Some stunts take hours to perfect.

J.V. cheerleaders: Christene Wright, Michelle Dalton, Kylee Maybin, Kate McKay, Stephanie Glenn, Nikki Rhodes, Tabitha Woods, Kyle Cole, and Alison Mathis.

The EHHS cheerleaders have a very difficult job. On their shoulders rest a big responsibility. They are responsible for keeping up the "Eagle pride" and spirit in their fans and spectators.

The cheerleading season officially began in the intense heat of August. The girls attended UCA camp at Furman university for one week. From early morning to late evening, the cheerleaders practiced long and hard.

The cheerleaders were able to get participation from the crowd and band when doing cheers such as "Aruba" and "Green and White."

Cheerleaders commit mind, body, time, and energy to cheering from every single football and basketball game. They pumped the crowd up with dazzling cheers, jumps, tumbling, and pyramids. Through the year, the cheerleaders helped to complete the circle of excellence at East High School.

DEFINITELY NOT A SECOND CLASS SPORT!!!

J.V. And Varsity Cheerleading

Varsity Cheerleaders: Kim Stepp, Christina Guidos, Cynthia Cox, Amy Jackson, Stacey Hice, Valerie Strickland, Ashley Hornsby, Amy Limbaugh, Jennifer Smith, Jamie Maybin, and Tracey Smith.

"It was always my childhood dream to be a cheerleader and this year my dream came true. It has been an experience that I will never forget." Stacey Hice

"This year has been fun yet challenging because we lost two girls. We've done well with only eight girls. It's been fun being captain for this team. I can't wait until next year." Christene Wright

Kim Stepp, Valerie Strickland, and Stacey Hice are three of the four Seniors on the Varsity team. The Seniors provided experience and leadership on the team.

During the homecoming game, Kate McKay scratches her head in total confusion. She wonders why she is cheering in the pouring rain.

On Top Of It All

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

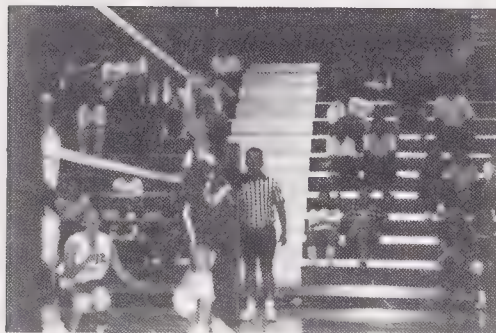

With perfect form, Jennifer Rhodes serves the ball. She proved to be one of the team's strongest servers.

"I was pleased with our season in that we posted a successful, winning record." — Sarah Rose

"We've played lots of games together the last three years and I don't think anyone will ever forget them." — Jennifer Rhodes

Coach Cook calls a timeout to talk to her team. This provides an opportunity to get the players excited.

Heidi Cagle sets the ball in pre-game warmups at North Henderson. This time gave the players a chance to loosen up before the match.

Varsity volleyball was a huge success this year. New coach Sonya Cook of Lenoir-Rhyne College guided the Lady Eagles to a 13-8 record. The team tied for third in the Apple Country Conference, but due to restrictions could not enter the state playoffs.

To prepare for the regular season, the team attended an all day scrimmage at North Buncombe High School. The Lady Eagles proved to be a strong force at the tournament, and looked as if a successful season was ahead of them. This proved to be true.

Behind the power hitting of Heidi Cagle and Ragan Huggins, the Lady Eagles had a strong offensive attack while Lori Camp led the way on defense. They started the season with four straight wins. As the season went on, the matches proved to be tougher especially when the conference games started.

After losing the first conference game to North Henderson, the team came back winning the next three games including a five-game match win over Hendersonville during homecoming week. When the season was over, the Lady Eagles broke even in conference play with a record of 5-5.

Beth Owenby and Christin Rose make an attempt to block the ball. These two were always dependable defensive players.

This year's junior varsity volleyball team had a tremendous amount of team spirit and effort. Everyone worked especially hard in practice so they could play in the game. Beth Owenby and Teela Waggoner obviously worked hard in practice because as Freshmen they both came in and started as setters. Another key player was Kelly McGraw. She was a big asset to the team as a strong front row hitter. A very important position that had to be filled was a consistent server. Sophomore, Allison Ford, was the one who claimed this spot. She was able to get her serves over constantly, and by doing this the Eagles were able to score.

Their new coach, Sonya Cook, worked hard to prepare these ladies for the games they were going to play. When we asked Coach Cook what she thought about the season her response was, "Although our record wasn't a winning record, it was a building year. We had a great bunch of Freshmen who show a lot of promise for the future."

By learning to work together, these ladies made their volleyball team successful.

The JV volleyball team listens intently to Coach Cook as she explains her strategy for the game. The team always had pep talks before the game to get them focused.

"Even though we didn't win 'em all, we had a very successful season. We always stuck together and showed a lot of team spirit."

"There is no 'I' in 'TEAM'. It took each and everyone of us to be successful, and success is not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game."

Here, Kelli Patterson receives a very powerful serve. As a back row player Kelli played a very important part during serve receive.

Hitting was a key factor during every game. Even Teela, who was a setter, got a chance to hit against many other teams.

Off The Beaten Path

CROSS COUNTRY

Shaun Hoots, Rachel Hills, Jerrod Helton, Jimmy Phillips, Gary Valentine, and Chad Ricker are some of this years Cross Country team members.

"This years team had two excellent senior leaders, Rachel Hills and Candice Voigt. They provided the leadership skills that held together this young cross country team. Everybody worked hard and some even made it to state."

Coach Pryor

"This was coach Pryer's first season coaching, and he did a good job. We worked hard! It was a good season." Rachel Hills

Trudging up the hill, Shawn Pace, is working hard. With each course being different, conditioning played a big part in the Eagles success.

Rachel Felt emerges from the trail and continues around course. Rachel was one of East's top lady runners.

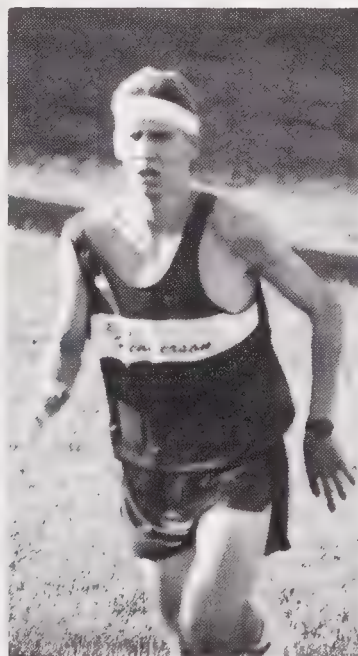

Pacing herself, Lorena Frost, keeps at the front of the pack. There was much talent shown by the underclassmen on the team this season.

Rachel Hills climbs the hill with determination. Rachel was one of the returning senior runners this year.

The EHHS Cross Country team pulled through with a great season this year. They were under the new coaching of Mr. Mike Pryor. With the combination of a new coaching style and great new talent, the Eagles made a good showing at area meets. With only two returning seniors and a small team, East worked hard. They faced each meet with enthusiasm and determination. Coach Pryor gave the team encouragement and helped to prepare them for each meet.

Two team members, Rachel Felt and Gary Valentine, qualified to go to the state meet. This strong show of talent ensures East Cross Country will continue to be successful.

With a look of concentration on his face, Jimmy Phillips, stays focused on the course. Focusing on the finish line helped to keep the runners mind off the long race.

With power and skill, Michael Joyce catapulted the ball down field on goal kicks. His consistent goal kicking helped the team out all season.

David Sigmon dribbles the ball down the field. His strong leadership helped to lead the team this season.

The East soccer team proved yet again this year that they belong at the top. The Eagles were led by senior captains David Sigmon, David Olson, and Cain Murray. The teams overall record was 14-1-1, earning them the title of Conference Champions. With much returning talent and outstanding teamwork, this proved to be the Eagles best record in School history.

Sound like a storybook season, well not exactly. With three key games still to play, the Eagles found themselves without five of their key players. Despite this obstacle, they soon prevailed. When asked about the season, Cain Murray said, "This season has been very riveting. We knew we couldn't go to state playoffs this year, so we just had to come out and kick everyone's butt. I'll miss everyone next year and wish the team luck, even though they won't touch 14-1-1."

"I think that this year was a major turning point for East High soccer; and I believe this years team, with the blend of older leadership and younger players, is the best team ever to play here at East. Also with such remarkable coaching East will be a constant powerhouse for many years to come."

David Olson

"This season was the best yet. Hopefully there will be many more to come. The seniors will be missed greatly, but we have enough young players to balance the team next year. Next year we can go to playoffs so we have something to shoot for."

Jon Klimstra

After a grueling game, the whistle has finally sounded. Showing good sportsmanship, the Eagles shake the hand of their opponents.

Defending the goal, Krystyn Cunningham, kept the ball from the opposing team. Quick thinking was a must in this fast paced game.

Scott Palmer wets his cap before a meet. The few minutes before the meet the butterflies came if you did not already have them.

Coach Keel gives another motivating speech to psyche up his swimmers. Although tough acting, Keel was always there for his swimmers. Thanks Coach!

This years swim season got off on the right stroke. With a host of returning swimmers the team got better and better day by day. Coach Keel, having no other assistant coaches, had a very tough job, but with a little help from those returning swimmers like Scott Palmer, Gavin MacRoberts, Angela Owenby, Darby Medlin, Caroline Crawford, Nicole Glisson, Verena Lang, Ashley Forte, and Sarah Sacho, the team was a very strong and winning group of swimmers.

The girls swam strong all year, usually finishing in the top two. The guys with a smaller team finished the season strong giving everybody they met a run for their money. The guys did beat an (at the time) undefeated Highbright. Both teams ended the year on a solid note.

On a special note at the time of publication the Regional Qualifiers were The womens 200 Med. Relay (Christen Rose, Darby Medlin, Hallie West, and Nicole Glisson), Hallie West in the 200 IM and 100 Backstroke, and the 200 Free Relay (Angela Owenby, Nicole Glisson, Christen Rose, and Hallie West). For the men Michael Eader in the 50 Free and Chris Peterson in the 100 Breast.

"To be a great wrestler you must be strong, intelligent, and have a great amount of character and self-discipline." — said by the most successful wrestling coach in Henderson County, Barry Cannon. He has been coaching wrestling seventeen years with fifteen years in Henderson County. The War Eagles practiced from 4:00 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. during the season. From 3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. they study, weight lift, run, or they could work on moves. The seniors are: Justin Flores and Fernando Hernandez, both first year wrestlers. State participants from last year. New wrestlers making an impact are freshmen Matthew Cannon, Travis Hudson, and junior Michael Nalley. The wrestlers that are continually team players are Michael Patterson and Michael Moyer, both sophomores. Coach Cannon took East Henderson High's wrestling team to fourth in the state. "A wrestler is a special type of person. I am very proud that we have so many A students on our team."

"We were out to a slow start, and we put in a lot of hard work preparing for each game this season." — Coach Johnston

"The season was long, but exciting. I practiced hard and I gave a hundred percent in each game." — Bobby Styles

David Sigmon falls to the floor while he is trying to get to the ball. Maybe his hard work will pay off.

Bobby Styles fights to win jump ball. Now it's up to his teammates to help him out.

The Eagles offensive team is guarding the basket while Michael Jones finishes a lay-up. Michael Jones often finished in double digits.

The players huddle around Coach Johnston to hear the game plan. The players are always interested in what Coach Johnston has to say.

This year East Henderson men's varsity basketball team turned the heads of many basketball fans. This team truly was one of the best East Henderson has ever seen in its history of basketball. From the sound of the mighty dunk to the sound of the roaring fans. Every Tuesday and Friday night, our guys put on a grand show.

The men's varsity team is coached by Jon Johnston and Frank Edney. Brandon Scott led the Eagles in scoring. He averaged 18 points a game. In the assists department, led the Eagles with assists. The Eagles record was 16 and 7.

On Friday, December 9th's game versus Pisgah, the Eagles played a great game. Michael Jones and Bobby Styles helped guide the Eagles to a victory with their great offensive and defensive plays. Michael Jones had 31 points, and Bobby Styles had 20 points. There were 6 returning seniors and 6 returning juniors. They practiced from 5:00 to 7:30 on Monday through Saturday.

The basketball season is a long one. The season lasts from November to February. It takes a tremendous amount of hard work and skill to have a winning season.

Megan McGraw shoots over one of TC's players. These outside shots were very important to the Lady Eagles.

Coach Pryor informs his team on what needs to be done. He always said there was the wrong way, the right way, and the Pryor way.

The Lady Eagles got off to a good start this year with the help of their new coach, Mike Pryor. We asked Coach Pryor what he thought about this year with his new team and he replied, "I have been very pleased with the girls' basketball team this year. All of the ladies have been working very hard in practice and playing hard in the games."

With Heidi Cagle and Jackie Robinson being the only seniors on the team, they provided most of the leadership. Heidi also scored many points for the Lady Eagles along with junior, Brandy Nelson. A big rebounder for the team was Ragan Huggins.

She racked up nineteen in one game during a tournament in Ashe County. Starting as point guard was freshman, Beth Owenby. Being young and playing on the varsity team was a privilege for Beth, so she worked hard to prove herself to Coach Pryor and her teammates.

The Eagles have improved greatly this year. Having only two seniors with the most experience hasn't slowed them down. This team is full of spirit and shows hope for the future.

VARSITY GIRLS BASKETBALL

FLYING HIGH

"Basketball has been really great and all, but I'm ready for college life." Jackie Robinson

"This year is a whole lot better than last year because our coach is good, and he's pretty much the best." Heidi Cagle

After Ragan's shot, Heidi and Brandy wait to grab the rebound. If you wanted to score you had to stay in there and fight for the ball.

Amy McCall guards her opponent closely. Playing man to man was the Eagles strongest defense.

Taking It To The Hoop

BOYS JAYVEE BASKETBALL

"I really enjoyed this season and had fun playing with my teammates."

Kyle Edney — Sophomore

"We were determined to prove to everyone we were a winning team. We did just that."

Jared Helton — Freshman

Sophomore Jerry Gilliam, in perfect form, sinks a three pointer. Good shooting form always paid off.

Josh Pruitt tries to aggressively take the ball away from the other team. Patiently standing by, Adam McGraw hopes to receive the pass.

Leaping over the other players, sophomore Hans Morgan lunges for the rebound. Sophomore Jason O'Conner stands back astounded at the strength of his teammate. Rebounding was an important part of winning the game.

After an intense quarter, Coach Ireland takes a time out to confer with the team. The boys gather around to hear the next play. Time outs gave the guys a chance to rest.

The jayvee boys basketball team has come a long way. In the beginning of the season, things were slow-paced because the team had many adjustments to make. Returning players had to get used to new players, the coach had to reevaluate everyone's abilities, and everyone had to learn to work together. However, with plenty of determination and struggle, the team is working their way up to number one.

Improvement is a big goal for the junior varsity team. Each player works long and hard all season, all in the hopes of making the varsity team next year. The jayvee team has become the building blocks of the future varsity team.

This year's team has a lot of talent. Returning sophomores Jerry Gilliam, Josh Pruitt, Adam McGraw, and Kyle Edney provided the much needed experience and skills. While new editions to the team such as freshmen Jared Helton, Eric Ballard, Nathan McCary, and Eddie Lunsford are showing great promise. The excellent coaching tactics by Coach Wendell Ireland are definitely present with this winning team.

The J.V. Girl's Basketball team has had a pretty good year. The team is made of seven freshmen and five sophomores. Doug Justice has now completed his third year of coaching the J.V. Girl's Basketball team here at East Henderson.

There were two high scorers on this team: Kelly McGraw with an average of 8 points a game and Stacy Leland with an average of 6 points a game. This whole team has put forth tremendous effort.

"This year's season has gone very well so far," Coach Justice said. "The team has a bunch of talent, but hasn't even realized their full potential." We also asked him what he enjoyed most about coaching these great bunch of girls. His reply, "Watching them grow as players and people and teaching them how to play the game."

You must have skill, concentration and endurance to play this game and this team certainly did.

WINNING IT ALL

“ Even though practices were rough and tough at times, I still enjoyed playing basketball and having Coach Justice as a coach. — Ernesta Hipp ”

“ I have one thing to say. Everyone makes mistakes, so please forgive me for shooting at the wrong basket. — Kelly McGraw ”

The J.V. basketball game starts by Stacy Leland tipping the ball toward Kelly McGraw.

Spending time with your teammates before the game was a necessity.

TENNIS

Serving It Up

Front Row: Kate Godehn, Jay Sandos, and Carrie Shaffer. Back Row: Tom Flanagan, Chris Elledge, and Michael Moyer.

Behind the coaching of Terry Saltz, the 1994 Eagle tennis team was outstanding. The team's matches and practices were held at Jackson Park, Blue Ridge Community College, or Oak Hills Racquet Club. Schuyler McKay and Trent Jackson, the top doubles team, led the Eagles to an 8-5 record.

The season started with three straight wins against North, Chase, and Brevard. McKay was the first seed and David Olson was the second in the singles division. As the season went on, the matches steadily got tougher but the Eagles roved to be strong.

Finishing 6-4 in the conference along with North Henderson, the two teams had to play again to see who would earn the right to go to the state playoffs. The Eagles were victorious. At the state level, McKay and Jackson made it to the third round in singles. In doubles, Olson and Jay Sandos made it to the second round.

Coach Saltz had this to say about the team, "The accomplishments of the 1994 tennis team were due to the hard work and effort of every team member. The team members have worked very hard during the off season to improve their game and level of play. I am pleased to have the opportunity to have worked with this fine group of young men and ladies."

Showing off his perfect form, Jay Sandos serves the ball. It takes many hours of practice to have form like this.

David Olson takes a break at the net as his partner serves the ball. Tennis can be a tiring game.

With pride, Coach Terry Saltz watches his team. He led the Eagle attack.

"Golf is really an exciting sport. Once you play, you tend to become hooked."

Vicki Jones
93-94 Sponsor

Golf is a sport of skill and strategy. The object is to get the ball in the hole without going over par. Par is the maximum number of times you are given to get the ball in. The Golf Team practiced at many different courses such as Crooked Creek and Kenmure. Each member of the team spent many hours practicing and perfecting their game. When asked how he liked being a part of the golf team, Kyle Jones replied, "I really enjoy it."

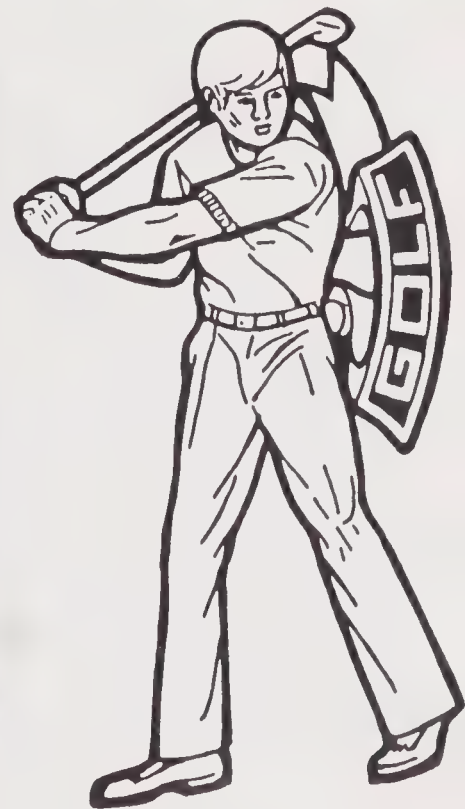

Each player strived to succeed, and under the leadership of Ms. Jones showed great improvement in his game.

Kyle Jacobs practices hard to perfect his swing. Concentration was a key element each player had to learn to master.

Dustin Gosnell positions his hand for a perfect grip. Good form is a must if you wish to play well.

Mitchell Corn takes a break during practice. A game of golf can often take a long time to play, but it is a very fun and rewarding sport.

Off to a great start, Kyle Cole is pepped to win the race. Most runners have their mind set on winning. The one goal that all track members have in common is to reach the finish line first.

With grace and skill Mandi Morgan clears the hurdle at the Times News invitational.

"Track is fun, exciting, and challenging. The best part about it is accomplishing the goal of going to state," said Christin Wright. Eleven girls went to state last season. They were Beth Barnwell, Stephanie Peterson, Christine Wright, Keri Simpson, Rachel Hills, Beth Justice, Erica Ashley, Regan Huggins, Mandi Morgan, Jennifer Russell, and Hallie West. The women's track team did a great job! They placed second in conference and second in region. This was their best finish ever. Coach Morgan said, "It was great finally getting the ninth graders and having the opportunity to be able to work with them for four years. Having adequate numbers on the team is necessary to be competitive." Part of the women's track team's crowning achievement goes to the great leadership of Coach Morgan. These Eagles ran, jumped, and threw with everything they had. Their spirit soared high throughout the season.

ROW 3 — Matt McLendon, Jeffrey Watts, Michael Nalley, John Skipper, Brooks Huntley, Shaun Hoots, Shawn Pace.

"We had a team of a bunch of hard-working young men. It made my job easy because it was a lot of fun to coach them." — Coach Sherrill

"Being on the track team is a good experience. Track is a good sport to gain discipline and meet your individual goals." — Johan Sjoberg

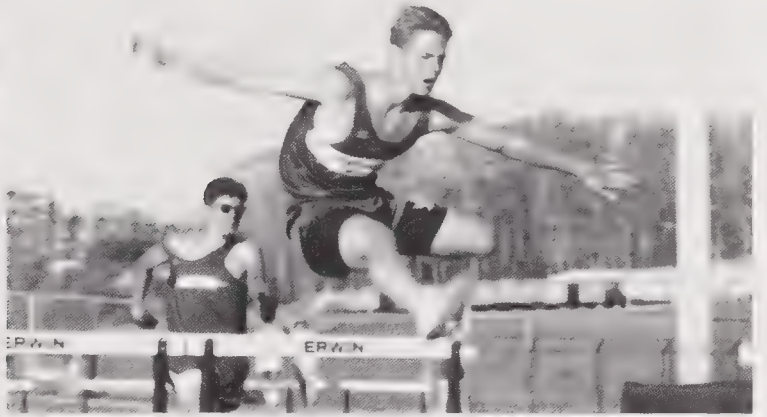

The 1600 relay team consisted of Chad Morgan, Johan Sjoberg, Walter Fletcher, and David Sigmon. They placed very well in all of their meets.

Phillip Burleson is only a step away from winning his race. His event is the 300 hurdles, which is one of the most difficult events in track.

The 3200 relay team did so well this year that they went to state competition at Chapel Hill. They placed sixth at this meet.

Chad Morgan leaps to victory. He is way ahead of his opponent at this track meet against Erwin.

Track season officially began on March 18, but this year's men's team began preparing well ahead of schedule. The guys practiced every day after school starting in the middle of February to improve their speed and agility. Not only did the track team have to run, but some participants practiced shot-put and discus. Men's track attended meets in many far away places such as Appalachian University and University of Tennessee. They placed third in the conference, and some of the team then went on the state competition at Chapel Hill. The team competed against well-established teams such as North Roane and Hendersonville. The 3200 relay team placed sixth in the state. It consisted of Adam Walker, David Sigmon, Jimmy Phillips, and Johan Sjoberg. Many runners also broke school records this year. Gary Valentine broke the 3200 meter individual, and the 3200 relay team also obtained this victory. Several coaches helped out in this team's progress. Coach Sherrill, Coach Morgan, and Coach Justus instructed the runners at practice and improved their ability. The track team strived for excellence in every area of their sport this year.

The 1993-94 East Henderson baseball team was coached by Dean Jones and Charlie Cagle. The team had a successful year thanks to its many outstanding players.

When asked "What do you enjoy most about baseball?" Jason O'Connor replied, "Batting practice."

The baseball team, through hard work and much practice, became very strong and outshined even the best of teams. With all of the team's internal motivation this wasn't hard. One example of a player with outstanding motivation was third baseman Cain Murray.

The 1994 softball team proved to everyone that "BIG GIRLS DON'T DRY". With a new coach and many new faces, the East Henderson Softball team was a big success. Through many long hours of hard work and practice, these girls pulled it off. They proved that practice really does make perfect.

At first, the softball team struggled but as the year progressed they made a big change and came out on top. With great team leaders like Caroline Chavez and Felicia Marshall this team made it all the way to the playoffs.

Jennifer Capps said that her most memorable moment in softball was, "Coach Gilliam would get too anxious and jump up and down calling everyone to third at once." Sometimes all team members got excited.

The softball team beat some of East's biggest rivals like North Henderson, Hendersonville, and West Henderson. The East High softball team finished the season with a 10-8 record. They ended up being one of the best teams to go through East.

CLUBS

Clubs are a big part of the extra curricular activities that the students of East High participate in. The clubs help students in their career choices, and also gives them an idea about responsibilities and decisions. The clubs also give the students a chance to get involve in school projects, as well as community projects. They do things such as visiting hospitals, road clean ups, and can drives. Clubs provide wonderful opportunities for the students to get involved in the school and the community.

The Pep Club helped get people on their feet at Pep Rallies and games. They made signs and sold things to get the Eagle spirit spread.

Dressed up for Halloween, Andrea Little and Jennifer Smith passed out candy to the children in the hospital who were unable to go trick-or-treating.

EAGLE EYE

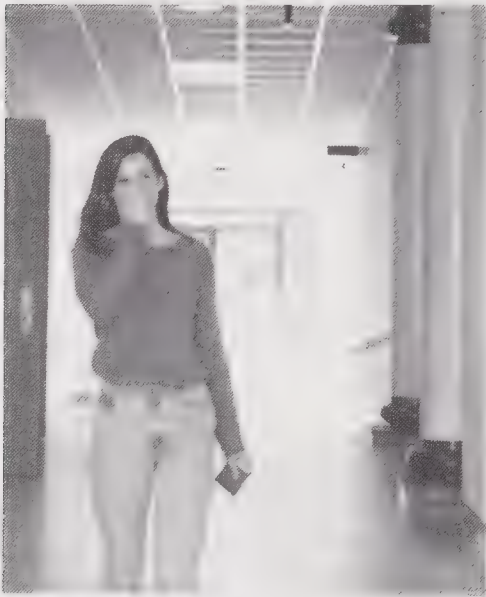

The Way Information Gets Around

The year's Eagle Eye staff has worked long hours to produce a quality paper under the supervision of 2nd year advisor Kelly Crisp, the staff was able to put out 10 papers throughout the school year.

"We have all improved as a staff over the last two years," said Ms. Crisp. She feels that better organization has been the key to success. The staff was broken into several departments this year such as the Art, Finance, and Editorial departments.

The staff has also raised additional money this year by selling more papers, parent subscriptions, public ads, and santa-grams. The extra money was used to buy a good camera and staff members hope that in the future enough money will be raised to purchase more computer equipment.

This year's editor-in-chief of the Eagle Eye was Beth Poston. "I really enjoy my job, but sometimes the stress would get to me," she said when asked about her work. Other editors include Cera Ovies and Allison Mathis. All twenty-five staff members contributed to the monthly columns such as "Wings of the Eagle," A student opinion column, "Flo and Joe advice" column, and "The Secret Life of a Teacher." New sections this year include "Movie Review" by Jake Gardner and Gavin MacRoberts and "Quote the Eagle" which was a section dedicated to student sayings.

Beth Poston walks leisurely towards the computer room. One could never tell that it was coming to the end of the deadline.

Reviewing the final product with Ms. Crisp, Beth Poston stretches and wishes she was asleep.

Carie Shafer gives an awful grin for the camera. Can you tell that she is stressed out.

Nikki Davis takes a time out to see what all the commotion is. The break was well dissevered.

Brandon Anderson checks out the latest news from the latest edition of the Eagle Eye. When the newspaper came out everybody was happy.

Cera Ovies (forgetting her V8) rushes from the computer lab to her room to run a thought by Ms. Crisp.

THE CIRCLE OF SERVICE

The Keywanettes at East High are one of the busiest and most productive clubs at this school, as well as in the community. Keywanettes is a club made up of almost 40 girls in grades 10-12. Keywanettes is a very unique club because in order to be a member one must be interviewed and chosen. After the interviews are through and the members have been chosen, the girls must then go through initiation.

Initiation this year lasted a whole week. It all started on Monday morning when each girl was woken up at 5:30 in the early morning and only given two minutes to get ready for school. What a wonderful way to start a Monday. After Monday all of the new members were forced to do whatever the Keywanettes asked them to. Such as washing cars, serenading in the halls, and spelling Keywanettes. All of the girls were really good sports and made it through the long, but fun week of initiation.

Hallie West and Suzanna DeKeizer help to support the soccer team by coming and cheering for them. The Keywanettes held many "soccer supports" during the season.

The Keywanettes gave food to the less fortunate at Thanksgiving and Christmas, sold Spirit Links and beat Hendersonville in their contest, and attended the annual Christmas Dance held at the Echo Mountain Inn. These activities are just a few of the many the Keywanettes participated in throughout the course of the year.

Key Club

The East Henderson Key Club is dedicated to helping the community. Neil Brumbaugh is the club sponsor. Road cleanups, collecting clothing and cutting wood for the needy are just a few of the activities they took part in this year. During the fall the Key Club had their annual picnic with the Keywanettes at Holmes State Forest. They grilled hamburgers, played frisbee, and walked on the trails. To help visitors around the Carl Sandburg home, the club lit candles during the Christmas holiday so trails were easily visible, they also helped answer questions that the people asked. The members collected clothes and cut wood in the winter for those who are less fortunate. Also, each member carried a donation box for needy children during the month of January. The club had their meetings on Tuesday afternoons in Mr. Brumbaugh's room.

The Interact Club sent Greg Hyder, Keith Pridmore, Kirk Charlton and Emily Harbin to Bervard for a leadership camp this summer. Greg Hyder, the president of Interact, says "The camp taught us the qualities and skills for being a good leader." They also participate in Environmental clean-ups, such as picking up trash regularly on the side of the road for the community. The Interact Club

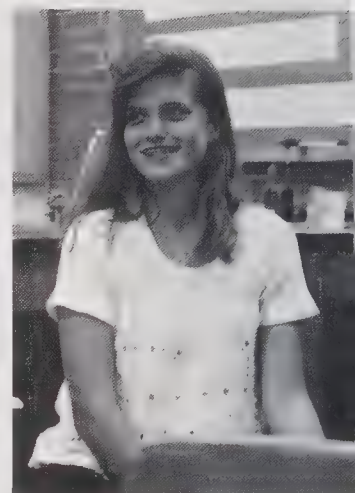

Hosted the fall assembly at Blue Ridge Community, which gave them recognition for their club. Members of Interact get to go to the Chariot in Hendersonville to have lunch with the Rotary Club of Hendersonville and talk to members from the county and different states that are from the club. They helped out many families and children with the selling of boosters that were hung up around the school. They got involved in hiking and having picnics together as a club for after school fun. For the holidays, Interact sang Christmas Carols for everyone.

A CHANGE OF CULTURE

International Students Club

The International Student Club was new here at East this year. It replaced the former AFS Club. This new club was sponsored by one of our new English teachers Mr. McKee. The ISC club acted as a host club to the new foreign exchange students this year. It also allowed many students at East to experience new cultures and meet people from other parts of the world. ISC also enabled the exchange students to make new friends at East. This was a big help to the exchange students having familiar faces around campus to talk to. ISC helped to bridge the gap between countries that are often very different. It was a very educational, yet exciting club to be a part of. The International Student Club did various projects and held many social events throughout the year.

Preparing For The Future

Health Occupation Services of America is a club that promotes the knowledge of careers in the health field. Students involved in this organization learn important skills that they can apply when they join the work force.

Mrs. McClure is the sponsor of HOSA and she is informed because she teaches Health Occupations classes. HOSA takes part in many activities that support health careers here at East High. On Halloween, the members give out candy to children at Pardee Hospital. Some HOSA members take part in volunteer work at Pardee also. Members learn basic health procedures and are informed on jobs available and their requirements. HOSA member Julie Beddingfield commented on this club by saying "HOSA has been a learning experience for me. It gives me the opportunity to help others. This is my second year and I will hate to leave." Thanks to the work of HOSA, more people are aware of the importance of health occupation services.

Future Homemakers Of America

Our chapter of FHA is sponsored by Deena Harris, the home economics teacher. The members of FHA have done various activities for the community including sponsoring a family at Christmas and making Halloween baskets for the multihandicapped class. The members in this club also compete in what are called Proficiency events. Members can work as groups or as individuals depending upon the event in which they are competing. Some events include a scrapbook, which is a project showing all the accomplishments of the club for the year, sewing, childcare, and many more. Competition goes from regionals to state and then finally to nationals.

This year's chapter of FHA doesn't include a vast number of members. The club is very class oriented and class involved, therefore the members of the club are also students in the home economics classes. Mrs. Harris credits the four by four period day with the low enrollment. With the schedule this year many students that would join won't be attending classes until the second semester. Although the membership is low, the FHA chapter here at East High is still able to accomplish big tasks.

Sonya Koch cuts a turkey for the teachers here at East. Hard work went into this Thanksgiving dinner.

Angela Case works hard on carving an apple. FHA was fun, but a lot of hard work was also involved . . .

Teena Blankenship helps Holly Benson and Nikki Granere make some biscuits. The funnest part of FHA were the projects.

FHA/HERO

The Eagle Rock Cafe is the home of the East High chapter of FHA/HERO. The FHA/HERO chapter here at East is mainly concerned with FHA competition rather than community involvement. The focus competition of the FHA/HERO club is the food service competition. There are many other competitions that are available for entry such as design a business, sewing, and even child care.

There is a series of competitions starting with regionals and ending with national level competitions. This year the regional competitions will be held at Blue Ridge Community College. The food service competition that the club members participate in allows three students from each chapter to compete in the regional competitions. In the competition each group of three students is given a menu with recipes to prepare in an allotted time period. The competitors are judged on how well skills, such as knife techniques, sanitation procedures, and team work, have been mastered and also how well the time provided was used. The first place team will then go to state competitions where the students again prepare a meal and are judged upon their skills. After state, the first place winners are then off to national competitions which are similar to the regional and state competitions. Upon winning here, students gain national recognition in the world of food service.

In 1994 Alexis McCoy went all the way to national level competition. This was the first time in recent years that a student has reached national level. Although she did not receive first place ratings, she did come in with a close second place.

The FHA/HERO chapter at East High is an active and important club here at our school. The club becomes bigger and better every year.

The Key To Success

Future Business Leaders of America is an association for students who are preparing careers in business, or business related fields. FBLA prepares students for employment by promoting competent, aggressive business leadership, establishing career goals, encouraging scholarship, promoting efficient money management, and developing character and self-confidence. Co-curricular activities encourage career development, community involvement, and business advocacy. An extensive skills competition program is offered to challenge members in their academic pursuits. Computer Applications, Keyboarding, Advanced Word Processing, Accounting, and Job Interview are a few of the categories in student competition. Competitions are held regionally, state wide, and nation wide. Amy Metcalf received a regional business communication award this past year at competition. Amy is also the current president of FBLA. Chasity McPeters comments, "FBLA has given me a head start on the competitive business world. I love being a member because we have fun, and at the same time discover new techniques that aid a person in becoming success."

FBLA is a widespread organization open to high school and professional leaders in the community. The one hundred and two members at our school enjoy contributing to our community. Their most favorite community project, headed by club sponsor, Sharon Lewis, was teaching a word processing class to interested parents. Members also use various fund raisers such as selling candy bars and giftwrap to fund trips to competitions. Clubs such as FBLA are great, because students have fun, and gain knowledge and skills simultaneously! FBLA is truly the key to success.

The purpose of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is "to present to athletes and coaches, and all whom they influence, the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, serving Him in their relationships and in the fellowship of the church." Each year the members of FCA take on this challenge.

FCA this year started off with a bang. Coach

Doug Justice headed the club for the second year. The new officers worked hard recruiting people before every meeting. Each Wednesday morning, the group would gather in the old gym for devotions and breakfast.

Night meetings were also a common occurrence during the year. They provided a chance to fellowship with others, play games, and sing songs to praise Jesus Christ. Also, the club sold tee shirts and doughnuts for fund raisers.

While shopping for a needy family at Christmas, Darby Medlin, Kim Bland, Jennifer Rhodes, and Candice Voigt enjoy their time spent together. This was one of the projects FCA took on this year.

Promoting School Spirit

Whenever you come to an Eagle sporting event or Pep Rally, the loudest voices are not just coming from the Seniors. They are coming from the Pep Club.

The Pep Club is an organization at East High that encourages and promotes school spirit. Sponsored by Miss Shuler, one of the new teachers this year, and Mrs. Corn, the Pep Club is the center of Eagle pride. The Pep Club took part in many activities. They occupy a special section in the stands at home games, and if you see a decorated athlete's locker, it is the work of a Pep Club member. They also spent time selling stickers, pom poms, sweatshirts, and other Eagle paraphernalia to get students excited about East High. By making signs and learning cheers, the Pep Club kept the students' spirit going.

Many members have positive comments on the effect of the Pep Club. Junior class member Ashley Hornsby said, "The Pep Club is a great way to promote school spirit and show pride in your school. As a Varsity cheerleader being in the Pep Club is just one more way that I have found to show my spirit and pride in East High." The Pep Club has done an excellent job at promoting everyone's school spirit at East High this year.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

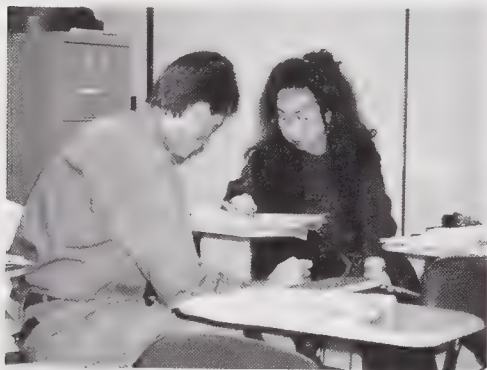

LEADERS OF THE CIRCLE

East High is fortunate to have such a dedicated group of students in the Student Government Association. This group consists of the officers elected by their classmates as responsible, dependable leaders.

There is now an SGA class which allows these students more time to work on school projects. One example of these projects is organizing raffle ticket sales which allowed SGA members to raise money for school dances.

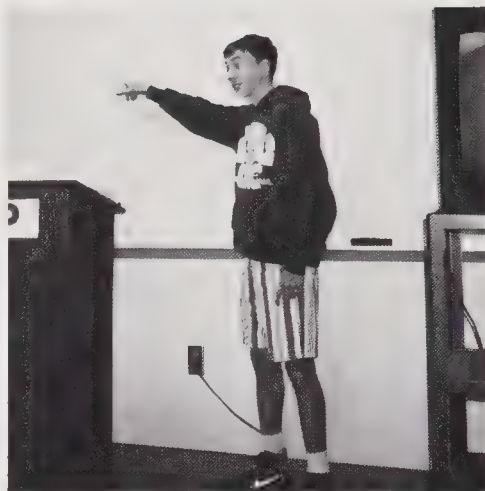

One area that their sponsor, Coach Edney, stressed as important to officers was the act of public speaking. Every other week the officers were expected to present the class with the required speech.

SGA has worked very hard this year by arranging school dances, organizing Senior Night, and many other fundraisers. By doing this they really helped East High look great and everyone had a fun year.

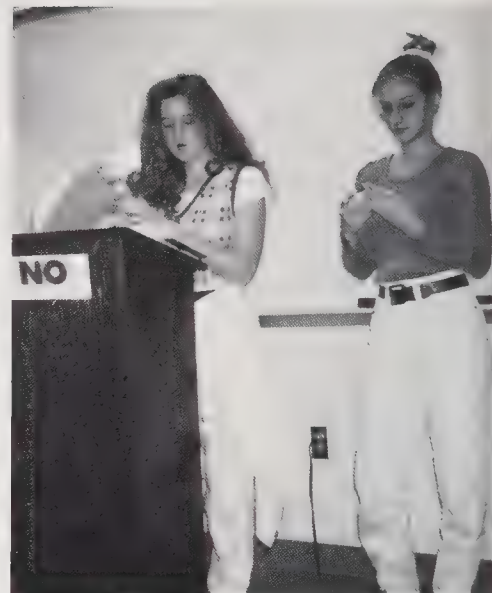

Ms. Frye and Coach Edney discuss future plans for SGA. These two worked hard to organize fundraisers for the class.

"I've enjoyed my position because it gives me the chance to do a lot for the school. Plus it's a fun class."

Senior, Christina Guidos, gives ideas to her fellow classmates on their project. As a Senior she worked hard to set an example for others to follow.

Allison and Christy set up their display of famous works by Walt Disney. They chose this as their topic because it's something that they knew a lot about.

FFA ORGANIZATION

The National FFA Organization is a club designed for people who want to pursue a career that is centered around farming. The sponsor is Mr. Jason Daniels. The club has helped the school in many ways such as planting flowers and constructing our new picnic area. This all went towards making our school more attractive. The club also competed in many contests, some of which pertained to agriculture, mechanics, forestry, truck driving, landscaping, and hunter and gun safety. Farming plays an important role in Western North Carolina. Therefore, it is imperative that the upcoming generation learn to carry on the tradition that has been held on for so long. The National FFA Organization is the largest youth organization in the world. The members of this club are given 12 short words to live by as they experience the opportunities in this organization, and they are "Learning to do, Doing to Learn, Earning to Live, Living to Serve."

Planning For A Changing Future

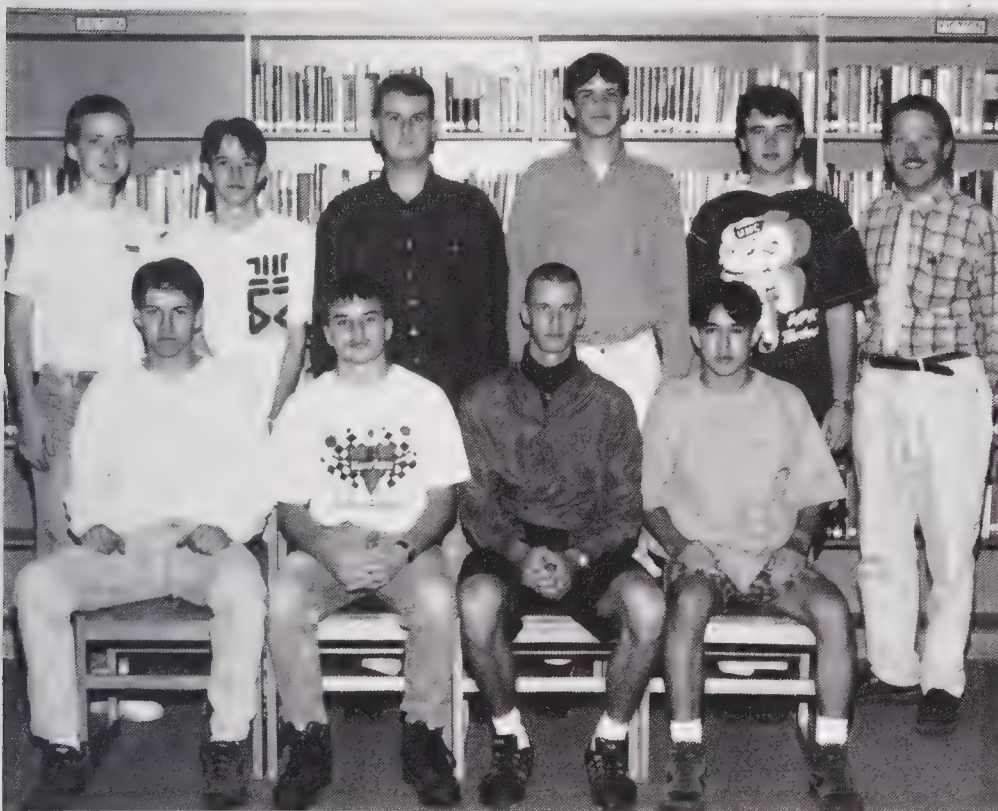

The word VICA represents Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. It is made up of drafting and carpentry students at East High. VICA provides an opportunity to enhance and reinforce the trade and employability skills of the individual student. VICA meets each week in B-2 to discuss plans with advisors Mr. Jones and Mr. Lunsford. This year the club helped make plans for the building of the picnic tables outside of the cafeteria. Each year VICA members participate in a competition in the areas of drafting and carpentry. Many students receive awards and even go on to a state level competition to show the skills they acquired from VICA. Many students that are involved in VICA during their high school years in turn become very successful in their careers. This comes as a result of their experience and participation in this club.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) is about students who are fighting drinking and driving. Their theme this year is "We're making a difference" and they certainly are. The officers are as follows: President — Stephanie Jackson, Vice President — Michelle Varner, Treasurer — Ricky Reynolds, Secretary and Historian — Amber Kitchen and Bethany

Coggins. The activities the S.A.D.D. club did or were involved with were a fund raiser at Burger King and they are doing the Prom Promise this year. The members also did a seatbelt survey. The S.A.D.D. club did a presentation here at the school to make students more aware of drinking and driving. They showed how dangerous driving drunk really is. The members were able to attend a S.A.D.D. conference, where they met other S.A.D.D. club members. The sponsor this year is Mr. King. Michelle Varner said, "I enjoyed being in S.A.D.D. because you can prevent many accidents by knowing that drinking can kill."

Julie Pace talks to other members about decision making. Group discussions are very important for members to express ideas.

Bethany Coggins listens to what members say about driving drunk.

DECA

The Distribution Education Club of America, otherwise known as DECA, is a great business club. It is a wonderful club to join, especially for great leadership and if you plan to seek a job in marketing.

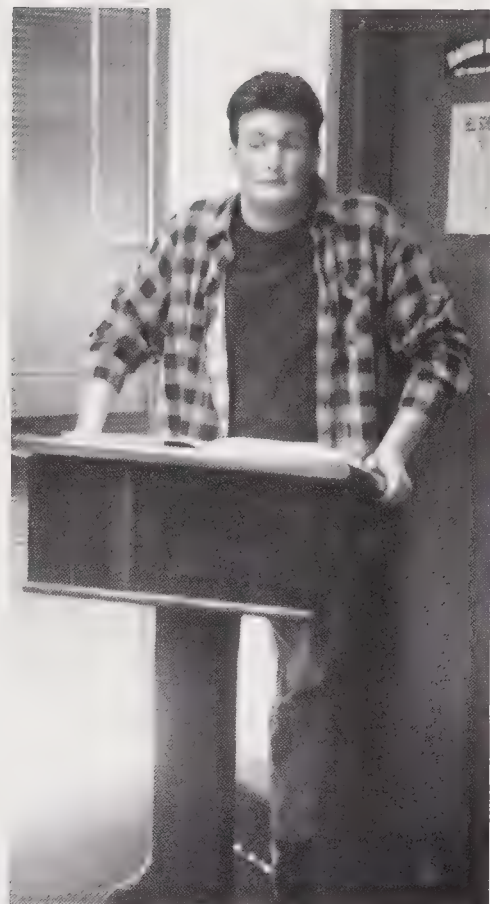

The East High DECA chapter went to a leadership conference at Blue Ridge Community College. While there, two of their officers ran for District positions. These two officers were Christina Guidos and Jackie Saltz. Each did very well.

This past January and March DECA also attended more activities. In January they attended functions at the Biltmore Square mall in Asheville. In March they traveled to Greensboro, North Carolina for the State Competition. During this competition, they competed for trophies in fields such as Retailing and Market Retailing.

David Jones, President and three year member of DECA was quoted as saying, "DECA is really fun." Other three year members include Nathan Marshall and Freddy Bailey.

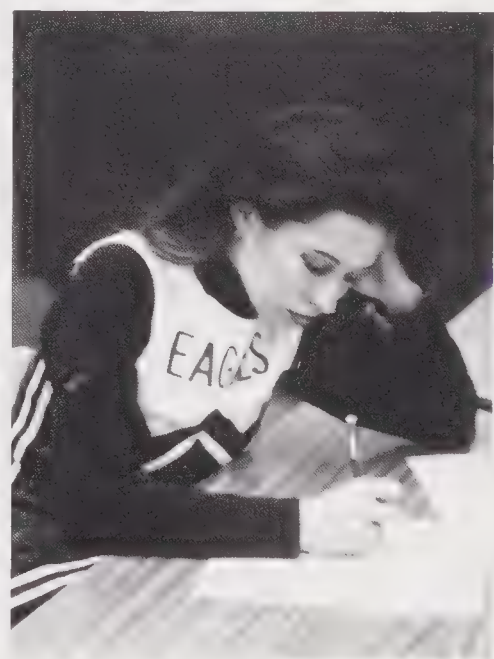

DECA is a great club if you seek a career in retailing or marketing. These students that have taken it upon themselves to join and work hard will more than likely be our big marketing leaders in the years to come. They are our future.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama club teaches the members the basics of theater. The club gets the members involved in acting and other areas of interest concerned with the theater. The members attended a faux finishing workshop where they learned to make materials look like marble. They also learned to make jewelry and during Christmas they went caroling. The Drama club also went to "Farm City Day." Some of members were ushers for different theater productions. The members of this club joined the Thespian Society.

This society keeps the members informed of different theatrical events. The officers are as follows: President — Nathan Marshall, Vice President — Marci Cooper, Treasurer — Ricky Snelson, Secretary — Jamie Fisher, Activities Chairmen — Michael Broadway, and Ryan Perry, I.C.C. — Scott Rodman. Ms. Leigh Ann Stacy is the Drama club sponsor and she had help from Mr. Pearce, a student teacher from Lees Mcrae college. He helped the drama students learn technical theater.

"Knock, Knock!" Everyone turns to see who it is at the door. The drama club is full of fun and surprises. "What's wrong Ricky?"

Mr. Pearce enjoys teaching the members the do's and don'ts of tech theater.

Glenn Dotson did not know he was going to be in lights when he joined the club.

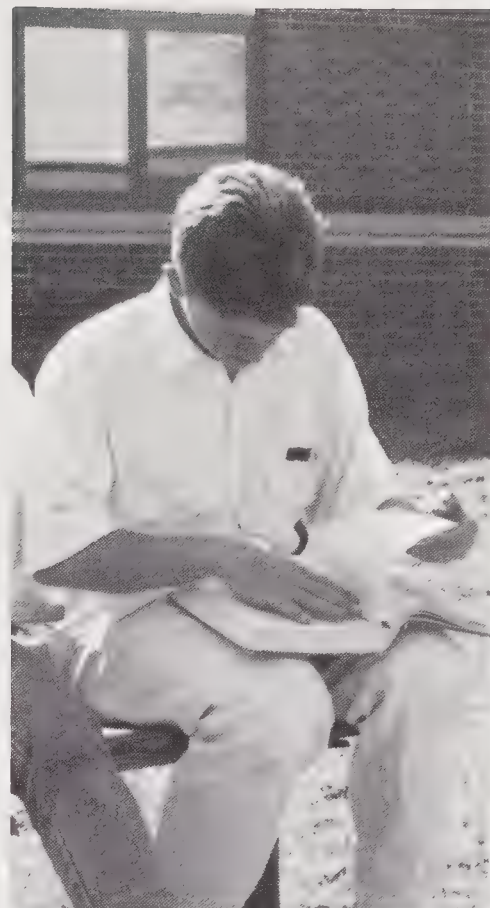

Making The Grade

There are many qualifications one must possess in order to become a member of East Henderson's Chapter of the National Honor Society. Each member is chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, and academic ability. One criteria for entering the club is having a 3.5 grade point average and maintaining it until graduation. The new members are inducted at the end of the first semester of their junior year. They are honored at an assembly in front of the entire school and their families. Here they receive their membership cards and a candlelight service is held. Afterwards, new members and their families are invited to attend a reception, held in their honor by old members.

The club held its first meeting in early September. The members elected the officers for the 94-95 school year. Emily Harbin was elected President and Kelly Molnar Vice-President.

The NHS sponsor is senior English teacher Joyce Loftin. Mrs. Loftin and club members enjoy helping the school anyway they can.

CIRCLE

The students of East Henderson High School participate in many activities. Some of the activities were offered as elective classes such as library aid, R.O.T.C., Annual Staff and News Paper. This leads the students in the direction of their careers. Activities also helped students learn about the foundations of different ways that they can become involved in their school.

Stacey Hice works on the annual in her journalism class. The annual was hard work but it paid off at the end.

Long Henderson High School is a Public Learning Institute. The R.O.T.C. is a non-military organization that provides a more professional dress to some students.

Activities

The library aids of East High were very helpful in their work. These students help you to use our nice computers and to help you in checking a book out.

After Hours

Shawn and Bobby spend time after school to paint the field. These football players always worked hard.

Here at East, many events took place after school such as club meetings, sporting events, practices, and socializing. For many students staying after school was not uncommon. In the fall soccer, football, and volleyball players along with cross country runners had long hard practices. During the winter months students practiced for basketball, wrestling, and swimming. Spring sports included track, softball, and baseball. A great majority of students participated in these after school activities.

Along with sporting events came club meetings. These meetings were held before school and after. Many clubs raised money, had roadside clean-ups, and even helped in beautifying the school campus.

Socializing was a major part of after school activities. Most students had it all planned out to be with their friends after school. The most exciting part of the day for many people was being able to get together with all of their peers.

Ending the day with all of these fun filled activities was what most students looked forward to after a long, hard day of academics.

Many after school hours were spent playing sports. The volleyball team huddles to plan their next move.

The Military Eagle

A F J R O T C

This years Airforce Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps got off another very successful year. With the cadets knowing what to expect the year moved by even smoother. The only difference from last year was the introduction of the four period day. This through many of minds spinning on how to work everything in. The big concern was that once the class changed to the second semester there were only a few cadets who had experience to keep all of the projects going. This was a big problem that the Cadet Staff had a problem trying to figure out. The answer came when many cadets reenrolled in the second semester. This was indeed a big help keeping the Basketball games maned and the Retirement Home project alive. (just two of ROTC's projects) ROTC in class teaches wear of the uniform, study skills, gives Leadership skills, and teaches Aerospace Education.

The Cadet Staff makes the laws that Cadets must follow to stay in good with the Corps. Almost all the decisions lay upon this bunch of returning cadets.

The Drill Team and Color Guard performed during many ceremonies throughout the year including: Drill Competitions, Football, Basketball And Baseball games.

Senior Master Sergeant Ben Blair talks to another teacher while at a presentation at Flat Rock Middle School. Smsgt Blair taught the Leadership classes.

"Finished at last!" exclaims Cadet Steven Moore. All cadets will tell you there is more to ROTC than just the uniform.

"Somebody is in trouble!" Shouts Gavin MacRoberts. When a commander Spoke you listened.

Colonel William T. Stanley is the Aerospace class instructor. When he talked one could bet that you would learn something new and exciting.

Many cadets stand outside the Headquarters building of the North Carolina Air National Guard in Charlotte. One of the most fun and exciting things to do in ROTC was go on one of the many field trips where you could go to Military bases and learn how they operate first hand.

MARCHING EAGLES

CIRCLING THE FIELD WITH MUSIC

From the cold winter air at the football games to warm concert halls, the marching band gave inspiration to all who heard their music. At the games, almost all the attention was turned toward the band who helped motivate the crowd and the players with such great songs as "Be-Bop-A-Lula" and "You Really Got Me". The band performed at home and away football games, pep rallies, the Labor Day and Christmas Parades, and provided music and spirit for all these events.

At halftime the spotlight really turned toward the marching band, as they entertained the crowd with their dazzling half-time renditions of "Aura Lee",

"Night Train", and "I Believe".

Mr. Lanning and drum major Hallie West have worked very hard to get 75 members of the band ready for the games. Mr. Lanning started off by sending Hallie to Greensboro from July 10-13th. In early June, flag camp began from 8-12pm for 5 days. The girls worked with instructors to create routines for all the fall shows. Band camp began on August 8-12th here at school. The marching band practice Monday-Thursday during football season from 3:25 to 5:00pm learning music. Mr. Lanning, Mrs. Smith, and Hallie West did an outstanding job this year leading the 1994 marching band.

The marching band proved to have surprises for the fans. They were so great that even batman showed up for the October 28 performance.

Hallie West leads the marching band off of the field in victory after another successful performance.

The football field explodes with the colorful array of green and white. The marching band always filled the air with excitement.

The flag corp brought many cheers at the football games. They showed great talent and skill.

Hallie West was the drum major for the marching Eagles. The leadership she showed was very rewarding for the band.

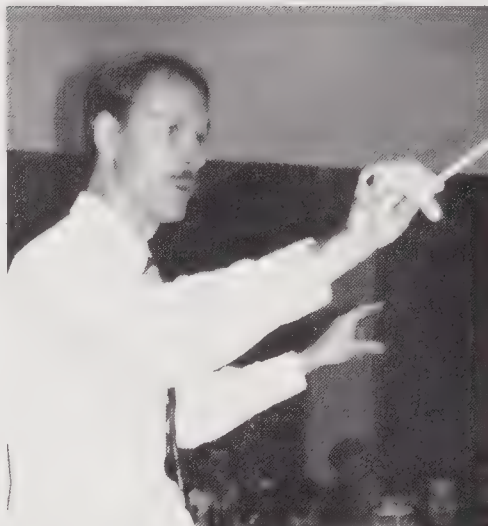

Here they are, the 1994 Marching Eagles! Everytime they came on to the field, the fans cheered in awe.

SYMPHONIC AND CONCERT BAND KEEPS PLAYING ON

The East High Symphonic Band has worked very hard this year. There are 54 members and the band is made up of juniors and seniors. The first concert this year was the Exchange Concert which was held on November 3rd at Bervard High School. This was a combined concert of our Symphonic Band, Bervard High School Band, and the Hendersonville High School Band. The symphonic Band Played everything from "British 8th March" and "The Good Daughter Overture".

The Concert Band has 70 members and is made up of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. They also worked very hard this year to make their winter concert the best. They played a wide variety of songs like "Brookpark Overture", "Christmas Rock", and "Cimarron Trail Overture". The Symphonic Band and Concert Band had other performance this year. Instrument played in the band are the trumpet, trombone, and the french horn. The band officers for this year are President — Scott Rodman, Vice-President — Jennifer Tayor, Secretary/Treasurer — Chasity McPeters, and Reporter — Jessica Engel.

Judy Camp, Jennifer Taylor, Stacey McCarson, Amy McCall, and Jessica Engel concentrate on playing their music.

Zack Shuford leads the trumpets in a solo. These guys really know their stuff.

Trombones are an important part of the symphonic band. Jon Klimstra makes playing the trombone seem easy.

In symphonic band Terry Kirby enjoys playing the bells. This is something he enjoys very much.

Drama Class

Scott Rodman, Jake Gardner, and Stuart West show how much they enjoy acting.

Lights, Camera, action! The Drama Class of East High School this school year performed the plays "I Wanna Hold Your Hand" and "The Actors Nightmare" during the North Carolina Theater Conference at Mars Hill College, and received much recognition for the performances. Ryan Perry and Stuart West received Honorable Mention in Acting Awards. The Drama Class did an outstanding job on Arts Night with the performance of "Problem Solver", and in the fall they performed the play "Fools" by Neil Simon. This class has shown us the many talents that are at East High.

Christoph Wiegrefe practices his lines in costume. Drama students looked forward to getting their outfits. Costumes gave the plays the "look" and the "feel" of the theater to the audience.

"What's my line" thinks Michael Broadway.

ORCHESTRA

Concentration is the key to playing well in string orchestra. Kyle Jones and Stephanie Jackson do just that.

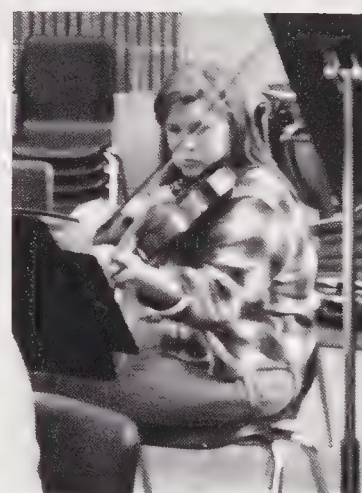

Nicole Jones and Jeremy Gibbs play an important part in string orchestra by playing the bass.

The East High Orchestra Band has been a part of the school since 1982. At that time the class consisted of a violin, viola, and cello. This year it has grown to the size of two ensembles with forty-three players. The instruments in orchestra now are violins, cellos, and double basses.

East High orchestra has performed at Arts Night in October and they played a Christmas concert on Monday, December 19. Small string ensembles have performed for various civic events throughout Henderson County during October-December. They performed everything from Pop to Classical music. East High and Flat Rock Middle School orchestra will perform at the NC Orchestra Contest April 95 in Charlotte, NC. They will be rated and compared to other orchestras from NC by a panel of three adjudicators.

Mrs. Hall took twenty-six students from East to Washington, D.C. for a weekend. They had musical stops and a private tour of the Kennedy Center for the performing arts. They participated in a dinner theatre production of "Guys and Dolls." They went on a dinner cruise on the Potomac River with dancing and live music. They participated in Sunday morning service at the National Cathedral of Washington, D.C. Mrs. Hall said, "I have never enjoyed the trip with my orchestra students as much as I enjoyed this group. They were eager for everything spirited, disciplined, and hilarious. East High students are simply the best."

Alli McDade plays the violin during first period. Playing violin takes patience and skill.

Erin Klimstra plays the cello during first period string orchestra. Persistence plays an important role in that class.

CHORUS

HITTING THE HIGH NOTE

The chorus classes sang difficult pieces for performances and for competition this year. From The Phantom of the Opera to "Jingle Bells," each is sung with enthusiasm. They performed excerpts from musicals such as "Oliver" and "Newsies." During the Christmas season, the chorus sang the popular songs, "Carol of the Bells," "Sleigh Ride," and "The First Noel." They took these collaborations and sang at nursing homes and for different clubs.

Chorus performed for the Rotary Club at the Chariot. The advanced chorus went to competition at Mars Hill and did a superior job. Mrs. Dobson is the choral director for both advanced and regular chorus. Many people auditioned for and were inducted into the Mars Hill Honors Choral Clinic. The East High students that received this honor were David Olson, John Aiken, Marci Cooper, Melissa Pressley, Kim Stepp, and Jerred Duncan.

Erica Gilliam enjoys thoughts of the weekend before it is time for her to sing.

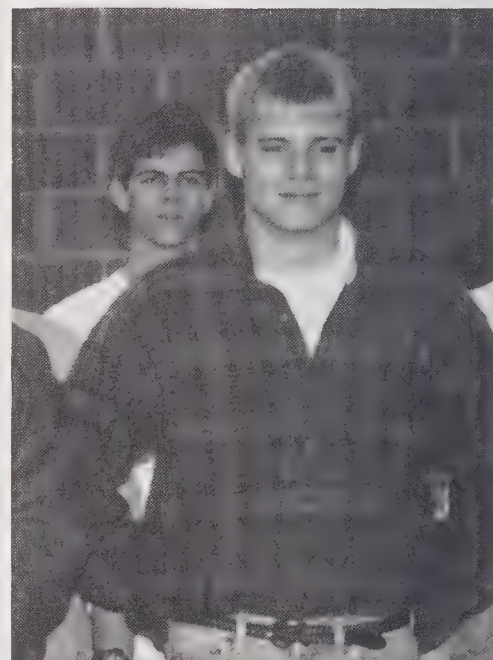

Stacy Harden concentrates on the words and she makes sure she knows what notes to sing.

Nicole Glisson and Stacy Leland take a break from singing. The chorus members relax and rest their voices which is a very important aspect of proper voice use.

Lisa Marley and Connie Beddingfield smile as they sing. Facial expression and stage presence are just as important as an excellent singing voice.

Chorus class is fun and exciting, David Olson's face is very evident of this.

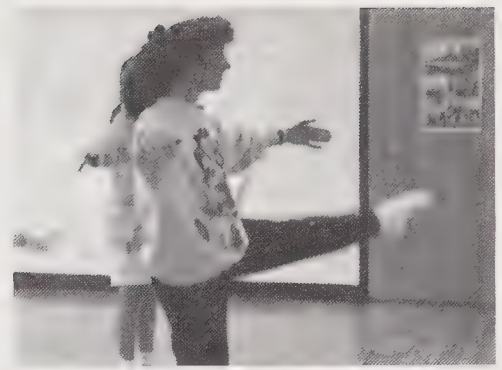

All The Right Moves

Dance

East Henderson's Dance Program began seven years ago under North Carolina's Basic Education Plan. Since that time the program has grown in facilities as well as students. Returning to EHHS's dance program is dance instructor Margaret Stone, who took last year off to become a mother. Many of Mrs. Stone's old students were happy to have her back.

Dance I and II students develop dance technique, improvisation skills, choreographic technique, and learn various dance styles. The students learn not only about themselves, but also about the world around them. They learn to be conscious of the objects, shapes, and people as they dance. They learn to incorporate time and movement as they work together or on their own.

The dance classes have several chances to perform including Arts Night and Henderson County's Art Day. Arts Night was held on October 17, 1994. The advanced dance class presented a 1950's style dance to the hit 50's song "Rockin Robin." The intermediate dance class performed an up beat hip hop dance. Opportunities like these give students a chance to shine as artists.

Mrs. Stone demonstrates the correct way to stretch. Mrs. Stone likes to be involved with all her classes.

One student shows how flexible she is. The students with stronger flexibility found it easier to stretch.

Bobby Hylemon, Juan Mendoza, and Stacey Hansford transform into a giant shape using each other. Learning to work together in groups was a big goal in dance. Students enjoy group activities because it enables them to be creative.

Candice Fink looks about to see if she's doing the exercises right. Many students were unsure of their abilities.

The Circle Of Knowledge

The Quiz Bowl

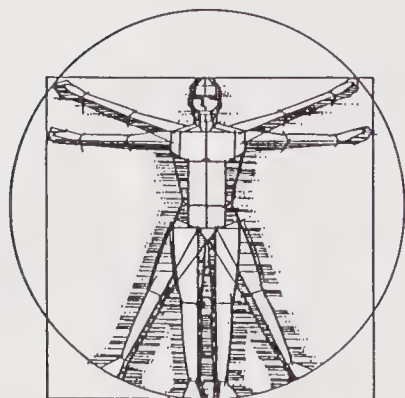

The Quiz Bowl at East High is a small but very busy club that often gets overlooked. In order to be a member of the Quiz Bowl, one must have a good knowledge about almost everything. The Quiz Bowl consisted of Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors.

The Quiz Bowl competition was held in January of 1995 in the library of Henderson County. From September until this time, the Quiz Bowl members practiced once a week, during lunch on Thursdays.

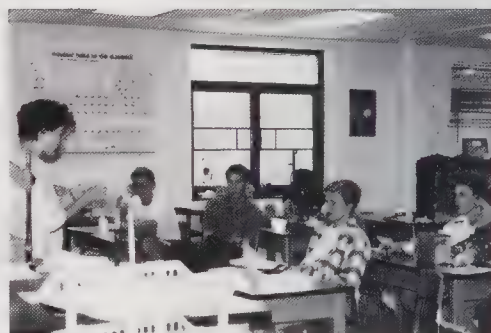

"Quiz Bowl is a wonderful way to expand your knowledge and make learning more entertaining. My experience in Quiz Bowl has helped me academically to make better grades in school and made me want to keep learning even when I'm finished with school," says Elizabeth Whaley, a Junior member of the Quiz Bowl.

Ben Johnson and Fred Huscher, both members of the Quiz Bowl, practice for the competition. It took lots of practice when on the team.

Members of the Quiz Bowl, Kory Leavey and Jon Klimstra listen to the question being asked. Total concentration is required during practice.

SURROUNDED BY BEAUTY

The Beautification Club is made up of a group of students, whose purpose is to improve the looks of the school and its grounds. The club members have developed a sense of pride in our school and worked diligently to make East High School a place to be proud of. The addition of beautiful flowers, trees, and shrubbery enhance the school and surrounding grounds. The Beautification Club was also responsible for the placement of picnic tables next to the lunchroom. Students are now able to eat outside during their designated lunch time. Mr. David Jones is the sponsor of this very deserving club whose members have maintained a goal of transforming East High into the most envied school for the county. The club has other plans, according to Mr. Jones, to improve and beautify the Senior Circle. "We want to fix it up and make it exclusively for the seniors," said Mr. Jones. The Beautification Club meets every month to discuss ways to improve the school grounds. Advisor, Mr. Jones, is proud to say this club has made the school look great! Businesses and people of the community have helped by donating money for the special projects.

B E A U T I F I C A T I O N

Instructed by Mr. David Jones, students take their time out of class to help out the Beautification Club's newest project.

By the Help of the Beautification Club, flowers were planted to enhance the beauty of our surroundings.

3rd Row — Jeff Jones, Greg Hyder, Jessica Little, Mr. David Jones, Candi Maybin, Mr. Frank Edney, Jennifer Dean.

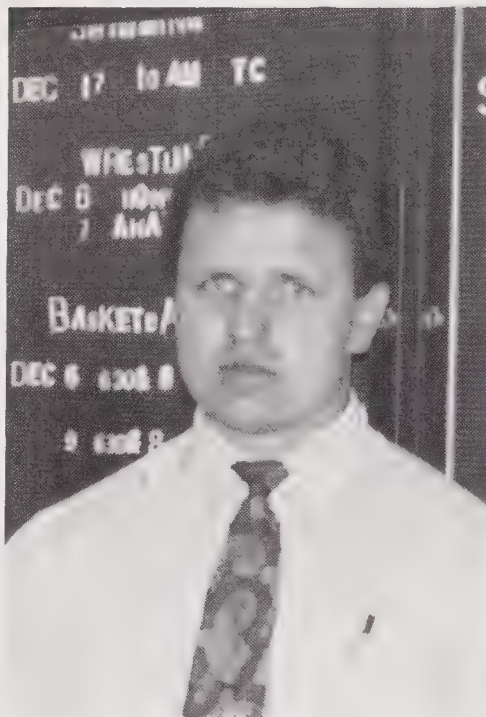

Crime Stoppers

PUTTING STUDENTS FIRST

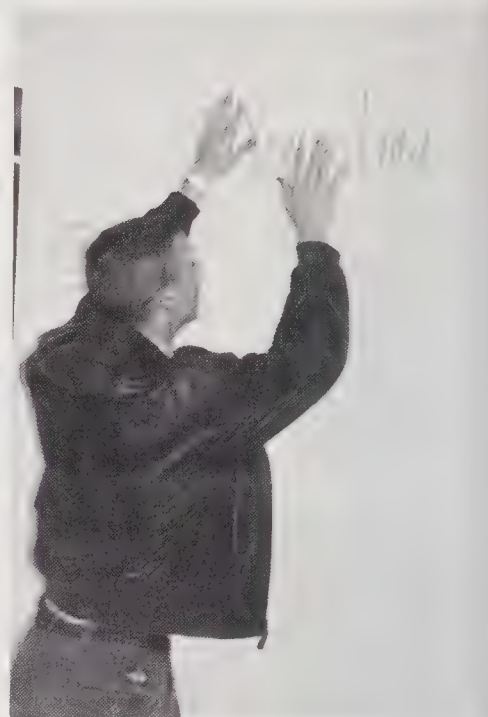

The new EHHS Crime Stopper Club started off right this year with several goals in mind. Making students the primary concern the Crime Stoppers board met twice a week to discuss problems on campus. Student safety and providing a good learning environment was the focus of most meetings. Members of this club were hand selected by the faculty and all potential members had to submit an application and go through an extensive interview. This year's officers were President Jennifer Smith, Public Relations Officer Chris Peterson and Treasurer Daniel Ruff. The Crime Stoppers worked hard to "solve" crimes on campus and make East a clean, secure environment for everyone.

Chris Peterson felt the club really helped the school. "It's important for students to know that other students have their best interests in mind."

Vice Principal Mr. McDowell stands for a picture as he shows members where to put up Crime Stopper posters.

Jackee Saltz puts up another poster to inform students of law charge. Students needed to know when new laws went into effect.

The members all felt like East was a great campus. To make it even better these students worked hard to rid our school of any crime.

The Learning Circle

The Library that we have at East is very helpful to all the students in the school. There can be as many as 200 students using the library a day. These students not only come to the library for the 9,000 books that are available, but they also come to use the various computers, read magazines, and use other important resources such as the vertical files. The computers in the library are equipped with programs like Grolier Electronic Encyclopedia, Infotrac, Newsbank, SIRS, Atlases, Languages, and many other reference works. The library has subscriptions to various news magazines, nature magazines, home, health, and beauty magazines; arts & crafts magazines, musical magazines, and much more. The library is always trying to keep up to date on all the new technologies. Newer and more advanced programs are coming out all the time.

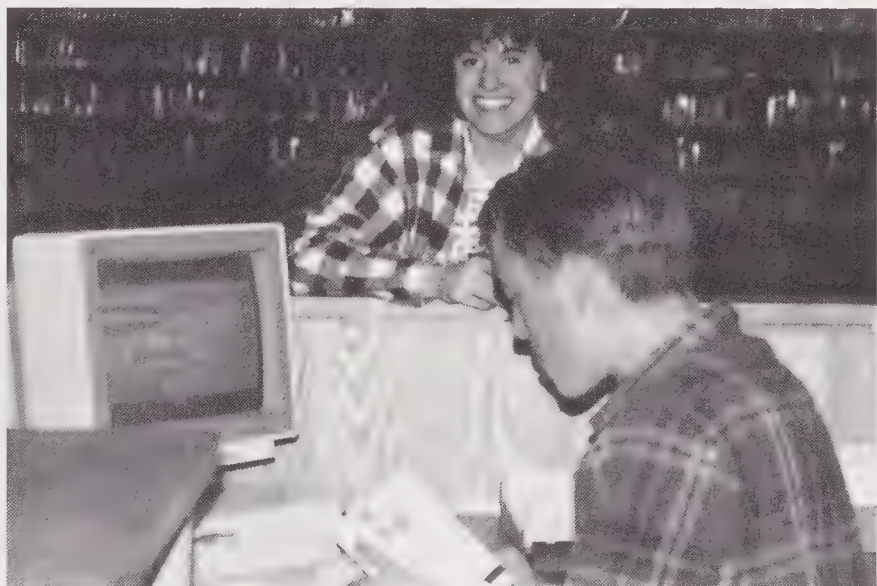

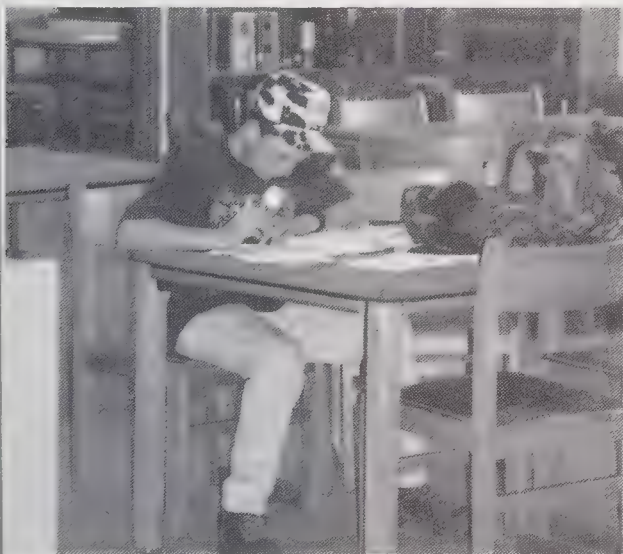

The library would not be complete without the student aides. This year there are eight students that assist Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Maxwell to do the hard work involved with keeping our library up and running. The students check books in and out. They return books to the shelves that have been turned in. The students also try to help the other students in any way possible.

The library is for the use of our students; it is here to help complete school projects and research papers. The library is an important part of each student's academic life.

Mrs. Smith checks things out on the computer. It is important everything is right.

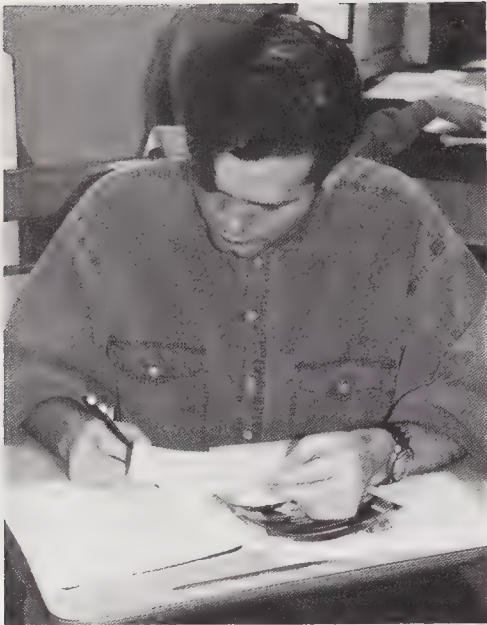

Josh Hipp works hard on some science homework. The library provides a quiet atmosphere.

Emily Harbin smiles happily as Ben Moore checks a book out for her. Many students check books out. The books must be properly checked out in order to keep track of them.

As Kelly Patterson does some last minute studying, she wishes that she was somewhere having fun.

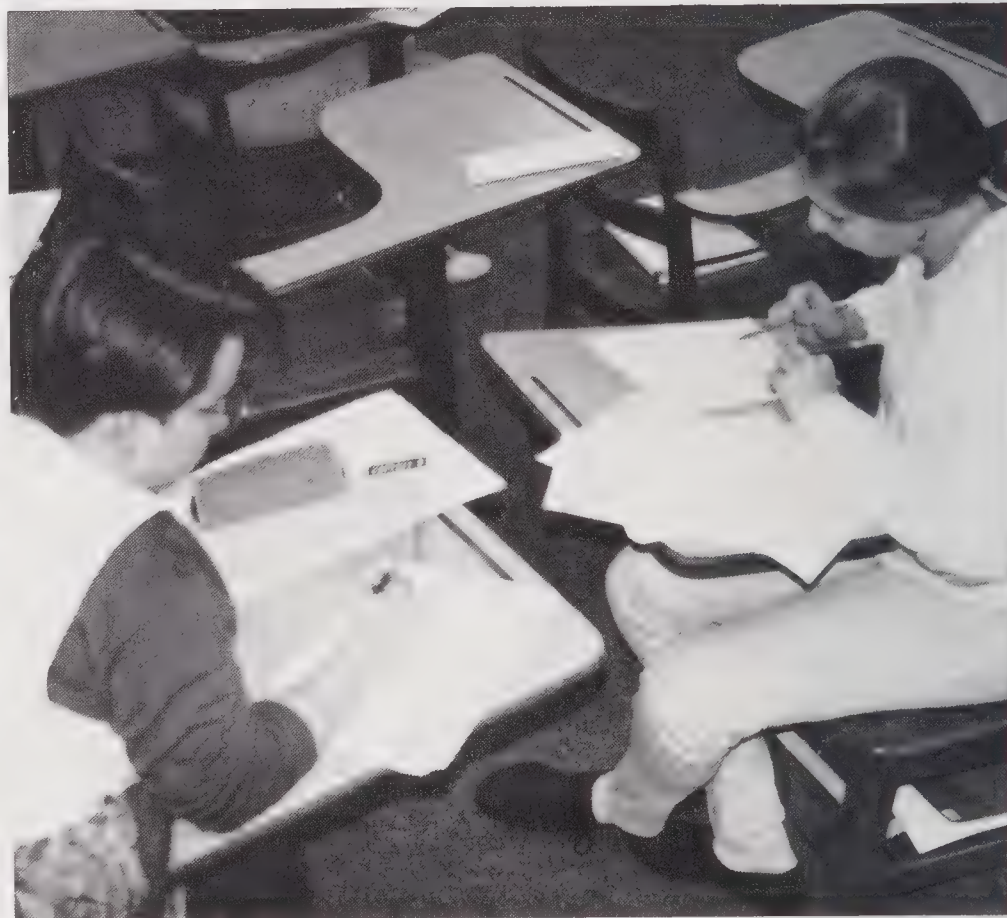

Kevin Pridmore writes desperately as he tries to make the dead-line.

The 94-95 Highlander staff had to work hard and fast to finish the yearbook by the end of the first semester. Under editor Olivia Morgan, twenty dedicated students managed to produce a 228 page book of memories.

Drawing layouts, taking pictures, and writing copy were all a part of the everyday class activities. Students had to meet deadlines, and often the pressure of making these deadlines was enough to cause many headaches.

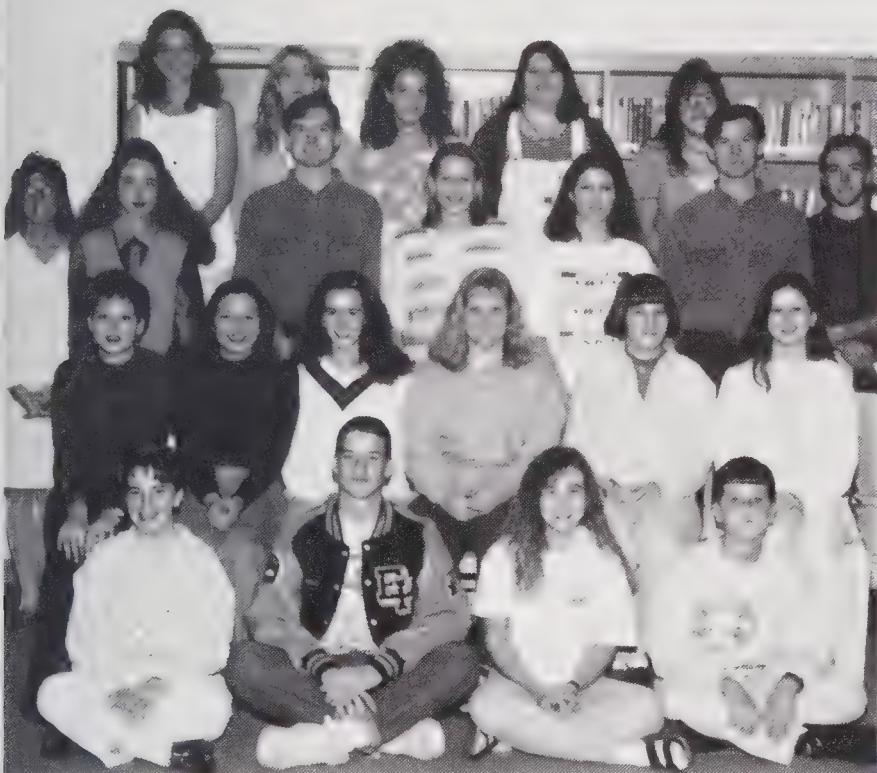

"Being on the annual staff has been a great experience for me because it has made me more responsible and has given me better leadership abilities," said first time member Keith Pridmore. To be on the annual staff, students had to be responsible and they had to really care about the final product.

Under second year advisor Ms. Caroline Weber, the staff managed to produce a high quality, good-looking yearbook. The theme "A Circle of Change" not only captured the feel of the campus this year, but it also addressed the changing look of the EHHS Highlander. Next year the staff plans on producing an even more up to date book that has plenty to offer every student here at East.

When one is on annual staff work is a daily job. Here Jennifer is finding out how hard this class is.

"Where are the pictures?" asked Heather. Pictures were what make the yearbook what it was.

The Best Of The Class

Academic excellence is one thing that students at East Henderson High School are constantly striving for. East High is made up of the best and brightest students in the county. Over the past year, many of the students at East Henderson High have received awards, scholarships, and honors from clubs in the community to nation wide organizations.

East Henderson High School students not only dominate the county in athletics with some of the best athletes in our area, but also in academics as well. Although every individual at East Henderson is very important, some seem to rise above the others with great leadership and integrity. This special group of students help to make East Henderson rise above the top among the other schools in the area and the community. East Henderson is very lucky to have such fine students and for this they are to be commended. Not only do these individuals make up the best of their classes, but also they are among the best in community and will go on to become tomorrow's leaders.

Mr. King's creative writing classes really learned to be creative and use their imagination.

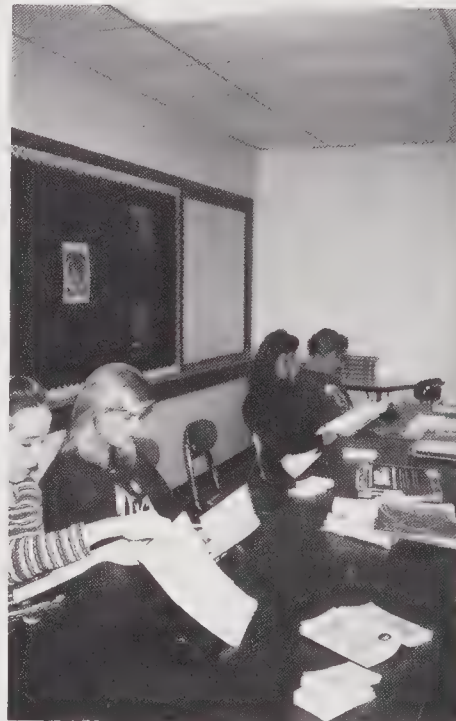

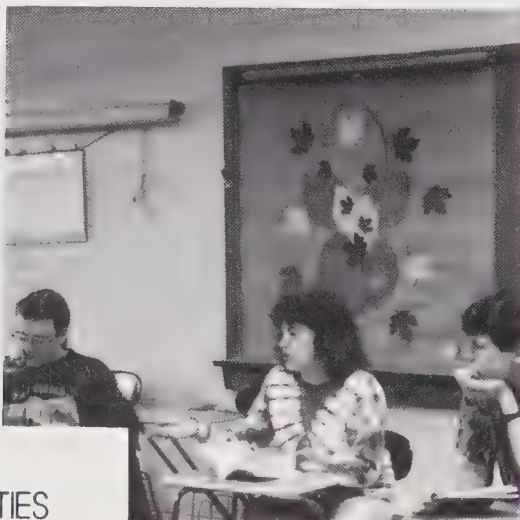

"This is harder than I thought," says Matthew Jones. The SAT class took intensive concentration.

"Help me!" says Katherine. Mr. Saltz's banking and finance class was hard yet interesting.

During a seminar, Emily Harbin shares her point of view on the subject.

Coach Keel's SAT Preparation class required hard work and study. The students hope it pays off on their SAT.

Summer and Pam concentrate on trying to be creative. Creative writing required a lot of thinking.

With the introduction of the four by four day, many of the departments added electives to give students more variety in choosing classes. New classes offered this year include SAT Preparation, Anatomy, Creative Writing, Senior Seminar, Banking and Finance, and German. Teachers, as well as students, were excited about the different classes.

The creative writing class allowed students to show off their writing abilities. "We have a great number of talented students here at East," said instructor Mr. King.

According to Mr. Keel, SAT material and helps students to develop critical thinking and reasoning skills.

Anatomy is the study of the body and how it works. "It's a detailed class on the physiology of the body," said science and Anatomy teacher Mr. Bailey.

Students who wanted to discuss current issues signed up for Senior Seminar. "Senior Seminar is the most fun, flexible, and enriching class I have ever taken," said senior Emily Harbin.

All of those future bankers took Mr. Saltz's Finance class. Having speakers and learning banking procedures were just some of this classes activities.

Along with Spanish and French, German class was added to the language department. Offered in the spring semester, this class gave students an opportunity to learn a new language and find out more about a world country.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Your Picture

As the tears begin to fall
And I begin to cry
I look in my heart
I see the twinkle in your eye

I see your smile
Your little face
And your little hands
So sweet and so fragile

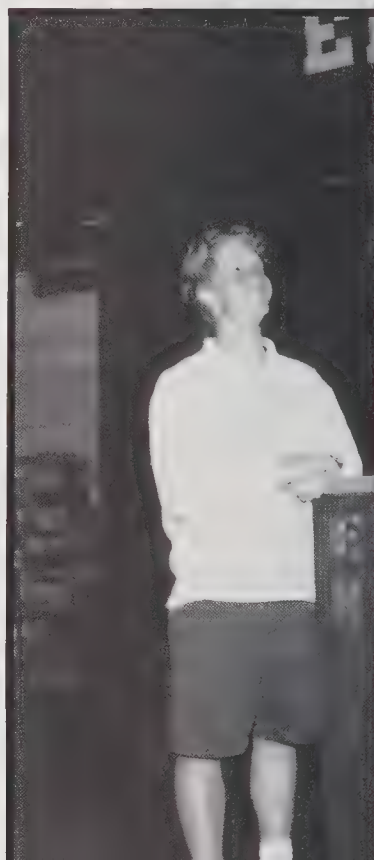

I see all this, and the tears depart
I get happy
There's no more sadness
Because I know you're in my heart

Students and faculty will certainly miss Janet Sexton who died July 3, 1994. She was an important person in our school.

ADVERTISEMENTS

From August through June, EHHS students keep their days and nights busy. In the beginning of the school year football and soccer games keep many students cheering and playing. Winter brings the sound of the basketball and the anticipation of snow. During spring, the crack of the bat is heard on and off the baseball field. With the advent of June many students can hardly control their excitement over the upcoming break. 94-95 has proved to be a circle of excitement and never ending suspense.

Weightlifting was a great way of getting fit for these guys. Johan Sjoberg and Jeffrey Stepp are trying to decide what equipment to use next!

These two students are thinking of all of their fond memories of East Henderson. Out of one-hundred and ninety seniors these two will always remember the memories of the year.

Darby,

It's so very hard to let go of someone who has brought so much joy to our lives. We count it a privilege — a gift from God to be your parents!

As you enter this new phase of your life. We are confident that you are strong and determined. You have a mature and positive attitude about everything.

We are so very proud of you and we will always love you with all of our hearts. Stay strong in the Lord and he will direct your path.

Love,
Mom, Dad & Christopher

Jennifer,

It seems like only yesterday that you were a baby—now you are a beautiful young lady at the crossroads of your life. You have accomplished much and made a place for yourself in society. I'm proud to be your mother.

Remember that you will always be my "little girl" and that I will always be here for you. Always believe in yourself and know you can accomplish anything you set your mind to.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Love, Mom

Way to go, "Jitterbug". Wish it was me!

Joy,

Put God first to accomplish great things. You must not only act, but also dream, not only play, but also believe.

Pray not for a smooth pathway, but strength to climb the rocks. Pray not for open doors, but keys that fit the locks.

We are so proud of all you have done and all you have yet to do.

Billie,

You have grown up so quickly, and accomplished well! No matter where life takes you, or what you do with your life, we will always be with you in love and heart! We cherish you so deeply, and will always love you!

God Bless You,
Love,
Dad, Mom, Jamie,
Carrie, and Jenny

Dear Dustin,

Congratulations, you finally made it. We are so proud of you and all of your many accomplishments. You will never know all the happiness you have brought to our lives the past 18 years. This is just the beginning of many more wonderful years for you. You are very capable of obtaining your goals in life. Work hard, have confidence in yourself and above all trust in the Lord. Always know we are there for you whatever you may need.

All Our Love,

Dad, Mom and Todd

Congratulations Lori!

From that shy little girl to Senior Class President!! We are so proud of YOU and what you have accomplished. You have been a blessing to us since the day you were born. Keep GOD in your life and he will bless you with happiness. We love you.

Love,

MOM, DAD, & CINDY

Congratulation, Sarah

We are very proud of you. Your hard work and self-motivated drive have made you successful, but always remember who created you and as you live your life

... "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding, in all your ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight."

Proverbs 3:5-6

*Love always,
Dad, Mom and Christin*

Dear David,

Time has a way of slipping by so quickly. One moment you are a little boy, being the neighborhood superman, and the next moment you are a grown man heading out the door to college. Dave, you have brought us great joy. You have given us the gift of laughter and love. You have brightened our lives by just being the special person you are. May Christ always be the center of your life and may He guide you as you continue to achieve your dreams. We love you so much and are very proud of you.

*Love,
Mom and Dad*

Good luck in whatever your pursue in the future. Always look forward and never look back. Just remember who you are and never let anyone change that. Have fun. We love you.

*Mitzi and Dad
P.S. Always keep a smile at hand.*

Heidi "Booper":

Let these words reassure you in the years ahead ...

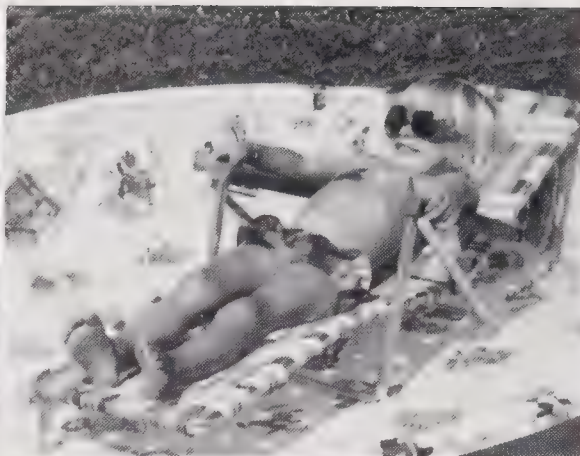

"For I know the plans I have for you, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future." (Jeremiah 29:11)

Know that we are always behind you in everything you do. You have made us very proud of you as a person and all your accomplishments. Depend on the Lord and believe in yourself and your dreams will come true.

As Forrest Gump said ... "Life is like a box of chocolates ... you never know what you are going to get ..."

Christina.

It seems like it was yesterday that I cried on your first day of kindergarten and now you're graduating from high school (yes, I'll probably cry again!) Even though we might not say it enough, we love you and are very proud of you. You've been a great daughter and a great big sister.

Love,

Mom, Dad, and Jessica

*May you always keep honor, dignity, self esteem, and may you find your destiny in life.
— Good old Dad*

Ryan,

We thank the Lord every day for blessing us with a wonderful son like you. You have made us so proud. Our prayer is that you will continue to allow the Lord to direct your path in whatever you endeavor to do in life. Remember Philippians 4:13, 19, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." "But my God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

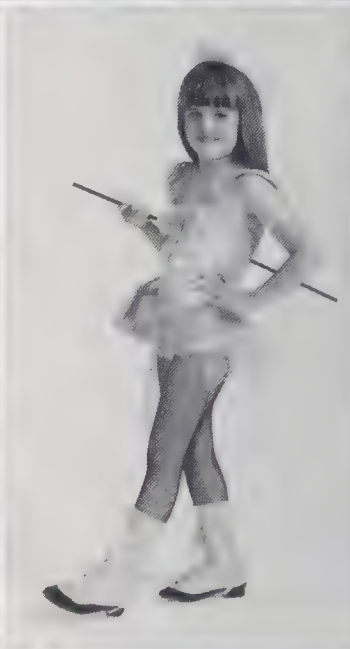

We Love You!!

God bless you, babe — Mom and Dad

"Miss Piggy"

We were so proud the day you were born
We prayed God would keep you
Your first day of school we cried when we left you
We prayed God would keep you
Thru the years you've accomplished many things
And made alot of people thankful to have been part of your life

We are proud of the young woman you've become and we thank God for the years we've shared
You'll never know how much we Love you — In all you do — "We Pray God will keep you,"

Phillipians 4:13

Olivia,

As a daughter you have been a special blessing and as my best friend, a real joy. You have always been able to make me laugh with your delightful sense of humor. You have accomplished much already by meeting your daily challenges with a mature and positive attitude, taking a stand for your beliefs, and keeping a strong determination to obtain the set of high goals you established early on. Thanks for making each day I've had with you a wonderful and loving memory.

Love,

FELICIA "BUCKET" STROUD,
CONGRATULATIONS!! YOU FINALLY MADE IT!!
SEEMS LIKE JUST YESTERDAY YOU WERE PLAYING WITH BARBIE DOLLS, NOW YOU'RE A
YOUNG ADULT, GOING OFF TO COLLEGE, MAK-ING VERY IMPORTANT DECISIONS FOR YOUR FUTURE. WE ARE VERY PROUD OF YOU, IN WHO YOU ARE, AND ALL YOUR ACCOMPLISH-MENTS. ALWAYS JUST BE YOURSELF, AND BE-LIEVE IN YOURSELF. HOPE YOU WILL HAVE A HAPPY, HEALTHY, PROPEROUS FUTURE.
WE LOVE YOU SO-O-O-O MUCH!
LOVE MAMA & DADDY
P.S. WHY DO WE CALL YOU "BUCKET"? HA!

Dear Chris,

As we look at the young man you've become, we can't help but be so very proud.
You have always brought us so much happiness and made our lives so bright. Continue to work hard to achieve your goals.
Never give up your dreams, but don't compromise your high standards, determination, caring for others, and your gallantry. These are the things that make you the SPECIAL PERSON that you are!

We love you and wish you the best.

Mom, Dad, Dayne,
Patrick, & Alexandra

Brandon,
We thank God
for blessing us with a son like you. We are so proud of the many accomplishments you have achieved and pray
you follow God's will for your future.
Always trust in God
and remember
how much we love
you!

Mom, Dad, and Sean

Bank With Us, and Your Money Stays Home.

Contradictory? Not at all. First Commercial Bank is owned by your neighbors: most of them right here in Henderson and Buncombe counties. Our bank's business is in Western North Carolina, not in Charlotte, not in Hong Kong.

We're proud of the range of checking, savings and commercial banking services we offer. But we're also ready to talk to you about mortgage, auto, and commercial loans, equipment leasing and credit cards, too. So come bank with your neighbors. Come home to First Commercial Bank.

You need a bank that stays home.

WHAT

All together my senior year has been really memorable.

Last Henderson's "Circle of Change" has come to an end. Over the course of the 1994-95 school year, many memories have been made and many changes have taken place that will never be forgotten.

Lisa Marley, Theresa Marley, and Heather Garren enjoy being together after lunch. Friends are one of the most important things in high school.

With a smile, Jackee Saltz walks down the hall. The end of the day always made everyone happy.
